20 Alabama Negro Convicts Cremated When Prison On Wheels Catches Fire

GUARDS HURT ATTEMPTING RESCUE

Two Other Prisoners Dragged From Cage, Seriously Burned

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., Jan. 31. (AP)—Twenty Negro convicts burned to death today in the cage of a prison transfer truck following explosion of a 30-gallon drum of gasoline.

Two other convicts were seriously injured and Guards Middlebrook and Wasson were scared on the hands and face in attempting to rescue the victims.

By the time firemen reached the scene the bodies of the 20 trapped convicts had been burned beyond recognition.

Reports on Cause Vary
Reports as to the cause of the fire varied. Guards said sliding of the truck on the icy highway apparently sloshed gasoline to the floor, where it was ignited by heat of the burning coals in a fire bucket placed to shield the convicts from near zero temperatures.

At Montgomery, Ala., however, State Highway Engineer Ister said a Negro had "struck a match" near the gasoline drum.

Meet the County Reporters

Meet the correspondents!
For the past several weeks The Journal has been introducing outside workers, who write of interesting happenings in their own communities. In order that readers in the Huntington Beach, Seal Beach and Sunset Beach areas may know who is their official representative, this week we introduce Russell White.
Mr. White lives at 624 Alabama avenue, Huntington Beach. He is a graduate of the Huntington Beach elementary and high schools (Please Turn to Page 4, Col. 6)

Bouquets to the New Five Star Weekly

How do you like the Five Star Weekly?

The Journal set out today to gather some opinions on this new magazine brought to you every Saturday exclusively by The Journal, and found that most people like it. Here are the comments, the way The Journal got them from representative Santa Anans:

Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber of commerce: "I think it is very good. I have also come in contact with it through other connections, and the opinion seems to be the same in other places. It is a commendable venture for a city of this size."

Harry Hanson, assistant cashier, First National bank: "From glancing through it it looks very good. I haven't yet had a chance to give it a serious reading."

Joel Ogle, attorney, First National Bank building: "Yes, it is good. I do like it. No further comment."

D. H. Tibbals, boys' work secretary, Santa Ana Y. M. C. A.: "Personally, I have never been very much interested in any of the magazine sections, either of this or of other papers, although I have heard favorable comment on it."

Allison Honer, commander of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion: "I think it's very interesting, and fills a need for a magazine type publication in Santa Ana."

Dan McHerron, director of the Works Progress administration: "I was glad to see this interesting addition to The Journal."

Lynn Crawford, principal of the Santa Ana High school: "It's a fine addition to the paper, and gives you something to browse over in your spare moments."

W. F. Menton, Orange county district attorney: "I've enjoyed it very much. My youngster is very fond of the children's page, too—in fact he makes me read it to him every Saturday."

Ernest Layton, city councilman: "It seems like a good addition to the paper, besides being a good promotion feature. It seems like a clean and readable little sheet."

BONUS EXPENSE FUND OKED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. F. D. R. WANTS NEW TAXES THIS YEAR

At Least $500,000,000 Needed; Inflation Drive Looming

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—New taxes to bring in at least $500,000,000 were projected by President Roosevelt today for enactment by this congress.

How much more revenue may be asked will depend upon a study under way on needs arising from the $2,249,000,000 bonus payment cost.

In one administration quarter the tax figure mentioned in connection with the bonus was $230,000,000—an amount designed to amortize the payment cost by 1945 when the bonds to be issued to the veterans mature.

May Be $750,000,000
The President himself did not suggest any specific amount of revenue for the bonds. But should the $230,000,000 be decided upon, the new taxes impending would jump to the neighborhood of $750,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt made his statement on taxes—and the necessity of voting them in an election year—at a press conference.

RICHFIELD SALE BID IS SHORT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (AP)—Auction of the vast Richfield and Pan-American Petroleum properties failed today when a bid of only $19,500,000 was received.

Special Master William A. Bowen, acting as auctioneer, said a further effort would be made to sell the two companies Feb. 29. B. B. Stonecipher, Grand Junction, Colo., oil man, made the only bid, which was more than $10,000,000 short of the minimum of $29,655,510 set by federal court.

The auction was to have ended the receivership of Richfield Oil Co. of California and the Pan-American Petroleum Corp.

Neither Harry F. Sinclair, noted oil operator, nor his attorney, Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, appeared at the auction.

Charm Secrets To Be Written Here

Beginning today, Frances Tipton Long, noted graphologist and America's premier authority on charm and personality, will write a series of articles about life, love and success exclusively for this newspaper.

Step by step she will reveal the secrets of personality and charm, and illustrate them with photographs of motion picture stars and famous people and by facsimile reproductions of handwriting. She will explain why some people are charming and others are not, why some succeed in life while others fail, why some find happiness wherever they go while others are always lonely.

Mrs. Long, who is vice president of the National Graphological Society, points out that the importance of handwriting analysis is now being recognized by many universities and colleges. Harvard University has recently concluded a successful experiment in graphology. More and more it is being accepted as a reliable index to the mind and personality. Identification by handwriting has long been used by the police throughout the world.

There is no mysticism about graphology, no star gazing, no fortune telling. But handwriting does reveal one's personality and character traits, whether good or bad.

Type of Appeal
Mrs. Long's knowledge of people has been gained at first hand from the study of some 600,000 specimens of handwriting from all over the globe, and from personal contacts with thousands of people in all walks of life. Through her own independent research she has discovered a method of diagnosing appeal from handwriting. She is the originator of the system by which appeal is thus revealed.

"Life," says Mrs. Long, "consists of a series of meetings with other people. When one's personality is revealed by handwriting, one can see the appeal of the person. (Please Turn to Page 5, Col. 3)

DAY'S GRACE ON LICENSES
Webb Rules Deadline On Car Tags Is Tonight At Midnight

A ruling of Attorney General U. S. Webb has extended the deadline for obtaining 1936 license plates to midnight, an additional 500 sets of plates were received here last night, offices of the highway patrol are open today to care for the last-minute rush—and there are no takers!

That, in brief is the auto license situation here today. A full staff of men is on duty to care for those unfortunate motorists unable to buy their licenses within the allotted time, and for whom the additional 24 hours of grace was expected to be a godsend, and there is no last-minute rush.

REDS PROTEST TO JAPANESE
MOSCOW, Jan. 31. (AP)—Soviet Russia confronted Japan today with a formal protest against an alleged invasion by Japanese Manchoukuo troops of Soviet far eastern territory.

Moscow reports said a force of more than 100 invaders penetrated Soviet regions from the Japanese-occupied state of Manchoukuo yesterday, but was repulsed by Soviet frontier guards after a vigorous encounter.

DISMISSAL FOR FITTS ARGUED
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (AP)—Attorneys defending District Attorney Buron Fitts in his trial on charges of perjury argued today in favor of dismissing the case without further presentation of testimony.

The motion for dismissal was made at the close of yesterday's session. Today, Judge Pat Parker excused the jury while he heard arguments on it.

MAY DISMISS RECORDER'S INDICTMENT

Grand Jury Known To Be Satisfied With Ouster Verdict

The grand jury today was faced with the question of recommending dismissal of a criminal indictment against County Recorder Justine Whitney. This body is known to be satisfied with a jury verdict last night is another case which probably will result in Miss Whitney's dismissal unless the decision is reversed by a higher court.

The indictment against Miss Whitney is scheduled to answer on Feb. 7, was filed by the grand jury before the accusation of willful and corrupt misconduct which resulted in conviction on the indictment would make a prison term mandatory.

Rumor Jury Satisfied
The grand jury is known to have no desire for such action. It would be satisfied simply by removal of Miss Whitney from office.

If it so desires, the grand jury may recommend to the court that the indictment be dismissed. At the request of the grand jury, District Attorney W. F. Menton could move for such a dismissal. In such case he would be acting virtually on instructions from the grand jury.

In Session Today
The grand jury was in session today and probably discussed the matter. However, it is not expected that it will make any recommendations until after Monday, when judgment is to be pronounced in the ouster case which terminated last night.

Should the case be appealed to a higher court, the grand jury probably would not be in session at the time the higher court ruled on the matter. However, the grand jury probably could pass a resolution recommending dismissal, contingent upon the higher court's action in the case, it has been explained.

'LOEB MURDER DELIBERATE'

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 31. (AP)—State's Attorney Will R. McCabe asserted today he had obtained information, while quizzing Stateville penitentiary prisoners, supporting his theory that Richard Loeb's slaying there Tuesday was "deliberate murder."

The prosecutor would not say what his new information was, but asserted its source was Edward Stepienowski.

Stepienowski, convicted Chicago holdup man, was the cellmate of Nathan Leopold, jr., partner of the slain Loeb in the murder of Bobby Franks in 1924.

PADUCAH BLAZE LOSS $75,000
PADUCAH, Ky., Jan. 31. (AP)—A spectacular $75,000 fire in Paducah's wholesale district was brought under control early today after wrecking half a block of brick buildings and for a time threatening the city's water supply.

Three two-story brick buildings collapsed, with uncounted losses to the Meyers Paper Company, the Dumaine Produce Company and the H. H. Produce Company, where the blaze apparently started. The temperature was 10 above zero.

Death Ray Will Be Used to Save Lives
URBANA, Ill., Jan. 31. (AP)—The most potent death ray yet devised by man was assigned to the task of saving human lives today.

Tests of its power in this respect were prepared in the physics laboratory of the University of Illinois.

The ray, a beam of neutrons 14 times more deadly than X-rays, is to be shot from a scientific "gun" now being assembled under the direction of Dr. P. G. Kruger.

Only a few details have to be smoothed out before the ray generator—the third of its kind in the country—goes into regular operation, although Dr. Kruger said it may be several months before the beams are controlled sufficiently to permit the medical experiments.

Human approach within 50 feet of the "gun" is unsafe because of the speed with which the ray destroys the white corpuscles of the blood. All shields, including those normally used for protection against X-rays and radium, are vulnerable to the deadly beams. The gun must be operated by remote control from a distant switchboard.

Experiments have shown, Dr. Kruger said, that the rays reduce

County Recorder Faces Penalty of Losing Her Office

County Recorder Justine Whitney today was awaiting final judgment of the court as a result of a jury's finding last night that she has committed willful and corrupt misconduct in office. The nine men and three women who heard the evidence in her ouster trial on a grand jury accusation reported their verdict to Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel in superior court at 9:03 p. m. yesterday.

The penalty is removal from office. Judge Scovel set Monday at 9:30 a. m. as the time for making his pronouncement in the case. The accusation contained 11 specifications originally. Two of these were dropped before the trial began because they referred to a prior term of office. On specification nine, Judge Scovel instructed the jury to find in favor of Miss Whitney. This specification alleged that she borrowed money from employees in her office to complete one of her deposits, but the court ruled the evidence did not support this contention. The jury's verdict was against Miss Whitney on the remaining eight specifications.

WHO WILL BE RECORDER?

County Women Voters Face Loss Of Only Female Official

Orange county today faced the probability of losing its only woman office holder. Women of the county today were stirred by this realization following last night's jury verdict that County Recorder Justine Whitney has committed willful and corrupt misconduct in office. The penalty is removal from her post.

At the same time the county awoke to the fact that if she is removed, a successor must be named. It is understood that women of the county also are keenly aware that such removal would take from the county's list of officers the only woman holding an elective position.

No Woman Yet
While half a dozen men have been suggested for the post if it becomes vacant, no woman so far has been brought forward as a possible successor; but it was learned today that a number of leading women are wondering why a capable member of their sex should not be appointed.

Among the men who have been named about one of the most discussed is John Horner, former postmaster of Fullerton and prominent American Legion member. In view of the fact that the last two appointments to vacancies came from Santa Ana, it is believed the board of supervisors feels it is reasonable that the next one should come from the northern part of the county if a capable man is brought forward.

Friends of Mr. Horner are said to be actively interested in his behalf, although he has not taken any steps himself.

Others Mentioned
Another pair of names mentioned with almost equal prominence are those of Fred Sidebottom, in the state board of equalization office here, and Perry Maynard, on the staff of the Fullerton Tribune. Mr. Sidebottom is an (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Building Spurt Shown Here
Building permits issued in Santa Ana during the first month of 1936 are nearly two and one-half times greater in value than were the permits issued during the same period last year, according to figures released today by Building Inspector Sam Preble. So far this month there have been 60 permits issued with a total valuation of $67,662.

In January last year a similar number of permits were issued, but the valuation totaled only $27,144. There were only two months last year—March and May—during which time the month's total of permits surpassed the valuation of those issued this month.

Of the 60 permits issued this month, nine were for construction of new homes. The total valuation of the nine new homes was estimated to be $51,500.

Famed Red Flannels Antiques Now

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—They're heirlooms. They're antiques. They're scarce. They're rare. They're famous. They're the famed red flannels of the United States could one find red flannels? Not even in Alaska?

"No," responded Volney M. Richmond, sr., president of Northern Commercial Co., an Alaskan trading firm. "I haven't even seen a pair in 20 years!"

"Haven't even heard of them in years," said the Utah Woolen Mills, pioneer flannels manufacturers for the northwest.

Back came the almost invariable answer: "No red flannels any more."

Was it possible that not in all the far-flung possessions of the United States could one find red flannels? Not even in Alaska?

"No," responded Volney M. Richmond, sr., president of Northern Commercial Co., an Alaskan trading firm. "I haven't even seen a pair in 20 years!"

"Haven't even heard of them in years," said the Utah Woolen Mills, pioneer flannels manufacturers for the northwest.

Congressmen and senators were polled unsuccessfully in Washington.

As for the fire department—"red flannels disappeared about the same time as the horse," replied Washington's fire chief, Charles Schrom.

The only pair known to exist in Little Rock, Ark., belongs to a filling station, where they are displayed when cold weather is forecast.

"And they're synthetic," said the proprietor. "We dyed 'em."

TWO COUNTY WPA PROJECTS, TO COST $42,317, ARE APPROVED

FUNDS GIVEN SANTA ANA PARKS

$15,321 To Be Spent By Government On $19,686 Program Here

Allocation of $42,317 for two Works Progress administration projects in Orange county, to give employment to 72 men in Santa Ana and Fullerton, was made today, it was announced by Dan Mulherson, county WPA manager.

A total of $19,686 will be spent for improvements on Santa Ana parks and parkways, of which $15,321 will be given by the federal government. The Fullerton project, improvement of Hillcrest park, will cost $22,631, of which $17,485 will be a federal grant.

Work started this morning on the Newhope Drainage district project, entailing improvement and laying of pipe, at a cost of $9115.

Projects slated to be started tomorrow throughout the county include: Tree surgery and parkway improvements, Anaheim, $8366; Orange county harbor park improvements, Newport Beach, $22,478; Talbert drainage system, $8854; Washington street school improvements, La Habra, $7319.

Work will be commenced Tuesday on the building of the Orange high school gymnasium, at a cost of $9718.

MORE ABOUT NEW OFFICIAL

Anaheim resident. Another northern Orange county newspaper man whose name has been discussed is Floyd McCracken, editor of the Anaheim Bulletin.

Two Santa Ana men have been talked about also. They are Byron Curry, head of the county welfare department, and Harold Yost, who was a candidate against Miss Whitney at the last election and is now auditor for the Santa Ana board of education.

Mr. Curry, however, said today that "I haven't applied for the job. If any suggestion has been made along that line it was entirely without my knowledge."

Board Meets Today
Friends of Mr. Yost, it is reported, are working actively on his behalf.

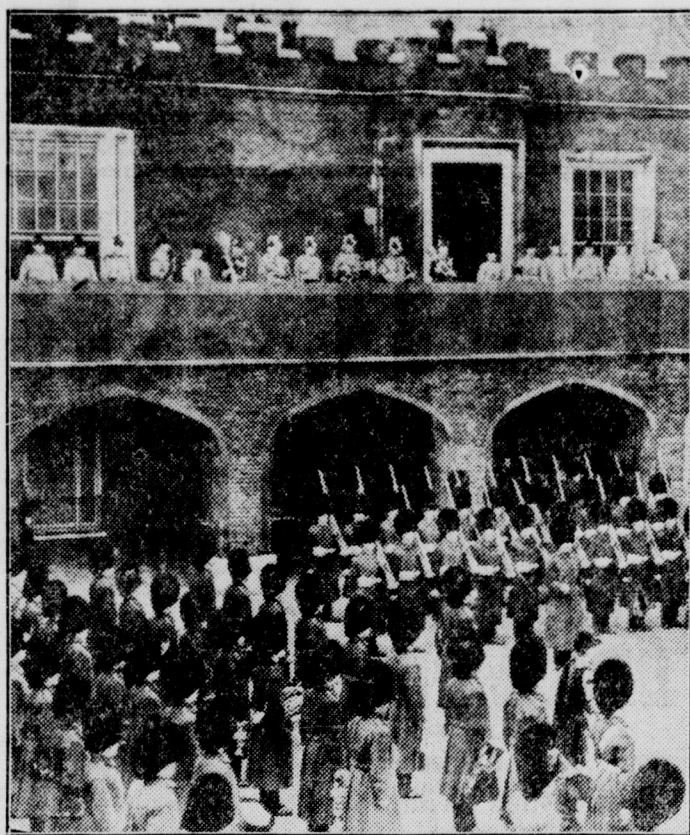

While the board of supervisors was scheduled to meet this afternoon, it was not expected to act until later. The pronouncement of judgment in Miss Whitney's case is scheduled for next Monday. The board probably would fill the vacancy as soon as it occurred, however. If the case went to a higher court on appeal, the situation might be changed, however. If the case were appealed, it is probable that a successor would have to be named pending the appeal, but if the local verdict was reversed, Miss Whitney then would be eligible for return to office.

The recorder's salary is $3060 per year. This, with fees which the office is entitled, brings the monthly income to about $300.

D.U.V. HOLDING SESSION HERE

With delegates from as far south as San Diego, more than 200 Daughters of Union Veterans throughout the Southern California federation gathered at the M. W. A. hall in Santa Ana this morning.

Mrs. May Boynton, department president, and her daughter, Miss Margaret Boynton, department secretary, were honor guests from Berkeley.

A drill team of selected members from the various posts under direction of Willa Dexter of Tent No. 58 of Long Beach exemplified the ritual. Mrs. Lillian Gardner, federation president, from Huntington Park, officiated.

G. A. R. officials present were Comrade Minnett, Los Angeles, national junior vice commander; Comrade Lockwood, department commander, Los Angeles; Comrade Grimes, Long Beach, department junior vice commander, and Comrade Wilcox, assistant adjutant general, Los Angeles.

CHAIN SUSPECTS DENY CHARGES

Five defendants arrested in connection with the La Habra chain ticket game pleaded not guilty today when they were arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen on charges of violating the state law on conducting pools and bookmaking. They will have a jury trial Feb. 25 in department three of the superior court.

Those entering not guilty pleas were E. M. Jackson, La Habra, chief promoter of the scheme, and L. F. Lemm, Harry Schuster, Ruby Schuster and Nora Foster, who assertedly assisted in running the game.

The chain ticket affair was similar to the chain letter craze which swept the country last spring, except that the mails were not used in this case.

said, "we heard the Negroes shrieking for help."

"As soon as I could stop the truck, I dashed to the rear, and Wasson and I unlocked the door and attempted to pull them out. "Two near the door we could save, but both are badly burned. The rest could not be reached, as the gasoline roared like an inferno."

The convicts, described by Middebrook as "bad," were being transferred from Camp "C" at Scottsboro to a state road project on the Lee highway.

Cages on Wheels
The prison trucks, used in Alabama, Texas and several other Southern states, are cages on wheels, equipped with benches for the prisoners. Usually there is provision for manacling the convicts.

The accident occurred near the city where Ozie Powell and eight other Negroes accused of attacking two white women on a freight train in 1931 have seen much of the litigation which has left them long in the shadow of the electric chair.

Probe Is Ordered
Powell is recovering at a Birmingham hospital from a bullet wound in the head suffered in an attempt to escape from his guards in a motor car last week.

Gov. Bibb Graves, at Montgomery, said he was "shocked" by the tragedy. He ordered Hamp Draper, chief of the state convict department, and Gaston Scott, state highway director, to go to Scottsboro for an official investigation.

WEHRLY GETS RED CROSS JOB AGAIN

Re-election of Dr. John Wehrly as chairman of the board of directors of the Santa Ana chapter of the American Red Cross placed the leader in the official set for the second year at the annual membership meeting in the farm bureau assembly room last night.

M. B. Wellington was named vice-chairman; Miss Margaret Esau, secretary; and H. L. Hanson, treasurer.

The officers were elected by the board of directors, who were named by the membership last night to include: Miss Hazel Bemus, Harry Edwards, Miss Esau, Dr. James Farrage, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Henderson, F. H. Hoagland, Mrs. Florence Helms, Mrs. T. D. Knight, Mrs. J. H. Liebel, Mrs. Eugene Robinson, Mrs. Charles Riggs, Dr. Perry Schrock, Mrs. Belle Spangler, T. E. Stephenson, Dr. Wehrly and Mr. Wellington, Santa Ana; Mrs. George Dunham, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Paul H. Esslinger, Capistrano; Mrs. Clara, San Clemente; Dr. C. G. Houston, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Pearl Jones, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Marie Kennedy, Seal Beach; Mrs. Alice Lewis, Corona Del Mar; Mrs. Louise Moulton, El Toro; and Mrs. C. C. Violett, Garden Grove.

Chairmen for standing committees will be announced within the next week, Dr. Wehrly said. Committee chairmen and officers will meet monthly and the board of directors quarterly, he declared.

In a discussion of the organization of first aid stations on the highways, Harry Edwards introduced Mrs. James Mustard of Station No. 2, which has already been credited with the saving of two lives in an automobile accident. Talks and demonstrations were given by Colonel Wellington on disaster relief plan; Miss Hazel Bemus, on Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Esther Chadbourn, national field representative; Mrs. George Dunham, on life-saving work at Laguna Beach; Miss Bess Sawyer, Orange, instructor and proffessor of Braille, and Mrs. Laura Warren, executive secretary of the council.

SHOPLIFTING TRIAL SET FOR FEB. 10

Four asserted shoplifters charged with pilfering in four Santa Ana stores Jan. 15 will be tried in superior court Feb. 10 on burglary accusations. They pleaded not guilty today when arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

The defendants are Mina Barron, Carmen Hernandez, Frank M.

DANCERS AID PARALYSIS BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—Millions of dancing feet across the nation in metropolis and village—including Warm Springs, Ga., where more than a few can't even walk—today had swelled the President's birthday fund to fight the scourge of infantile paralysis.

The parties were pronounced a grand success though not enough figures had come in today to permit an estimate of the total raised. It was estimated that 5,000,000 persons attended 6000 balls.

In New York, where centered the celebration of President Roosevelt's 54th birthday, the chief executive, himself a victim of the dread disease 15 years ago, voiced thanks to the nation over the radio last night and "very personal greetings to several hundred thousand victims."

Mrs. Roosevelt whirled from hotel to hotel, where gay parties were in progress, and where figurative turnstiles were clicking dollars into the Warm Springs Foundation coffers.

In New York, society put on a pageant before the President's mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, at the Waldorf-Astoria. Tammany Hall threw a beef steak dinner.

Down at Warm Springs where the President fought his own affliction, crippled children joined other folk in "the biggest social event of the year."

SRA REDUCES PAY DAYS

Becoming effective on Feb. 6, State Relief administration clients will receive their checks every two weeks, rather than once a week, Supervisor Terrance Halloran said today.

The change in payroll procedure was made, Mr. Halloran said, in order to affect further administration personnel cuts. No reductions will be made in the amounts clients will receive, he said, but the administration payroll will be considerably reduced.

The order will reduce the number of employees in the Santa Ana office from 68 to 58. The SRA case load is lower now than at any time in its history, cases numbering 1730, as compared to 5200 in February, 1935.

G.O.P. OLIVE BRANCH DUE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 31. (AP)—Predictions of an early settlement of rivalry within the Republican party in California for the leadership of the delegation to the national convention circulated in the capital today.

While Democrats remained entangled in a quarrel over whether the more conservative McAdoo forces or the Epic bloc led by State Senator Culbert Olson would control a Roosevelt-pledged delegation, leaders of the campaign to put Gov. Frank F. Merriam at the head of the Republican delegation expressed satisfaction with his prospects.

From another quarter came a hint that Lieut. Gov. George Hatfield was in a "strategic" position and that election day for delegates, May 5, would see but one Republican ticket on the ballot.

The assertion was made that it probably would be pledged to Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas. Some Merriam leaders replied:

"We do not think so. We believe Merriam will take the delegation to Cleveland and that Landon will not attempt to campaign in California against a favorite son."

AHERN MUST FACE HOMICIDE TRIAL

Harold H. Ahern, 35, Universal City, was held to answer to the superior court today on charges of negligent homicide. His preliminary hearing was held this morning in the Costa Mesa justice court, where Justice of the Peace D. J. Dodge fixed bail at $5000.

Ahern was the driver of a car which on the night of Jan. 13 crashed head-on into another car driven by John D. Atchison, 65, Pasadena. Mrs. Jane Ella Abell, 77, Pasadena, was fatally injured in the crash, which occurred on the coast highway near Corona Del Mar.

The defendant was taken to the county jail this noon.

200 VISITORS REPRESENT SANTA ANA

With more than 100 advance reservations made with the Pacific Electric Company before noon for the trip to Los Angeles today, indications this morning were that a crowd of well over 200 would represent Santa Ana at Santa Ana day at the Los Angeles Times.

The special train left here at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and was to arrive in Los Angeles well in advance of the hour set for the Santa Ana broadcast over KHJ, at 3:30.

Guides will remain on duty in the Times building until 9 o'clock tonight to care for visitors to the plant, it was explained. A thorough inspection of the new building will be coupled with the broadcast.

MORE ABOUT NEW TAXES

currency expansion, official Washington considered them fully presented in his veto of the Patman inflationary bonus bill last session. Emphasis was placed by the chief executive on his statement that the half billion needed for the farm program would be in the nature of a substitute for the invalidated processing levies.

Currency expansionists on Capitol hill were encouraged by the marked aversion of congress to levying taxes in a campaign year. But potent Democratic leaders said privately that the drive was as good as blocked, and even some inflationists admitted they were whipped, though none was ready to be quoted by name.

May Force Vote
One of the most persistent of the inflationists, Representative Patman (D., Tex.), expressed optimism, however. He summoned an inflationary "steering committee" of house members into a secret session to arrange strategy. When the house approaches the task of appropriating the bonus money, as requested by President Roosevelt, Patman's aim is to force a vote on his plan by printing money, rather than by borrowing or new taxes.

'Back to 1926'
Prominent Democrats sought to show that there was no significance in the action yesterday of the senate agriculture committee, which included a supplemental statement on currency expansion in reporting the administration's new farm subsidy bill to the senate.

The statement, included at the request of Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), suggested that the President should announce that he was "going back to the 1926 price level." Prices would immediately rise to that level, Thomas argued, and the President could keep them there by issuing $750,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 of new currency. With today the second anniversary of the devalued dollar, some administration strategists were suggesting that the whole problem of new taxes be put over until the 75th congress, convening in January, 1937.

OLD SOUTH GLIMPSED IN 'ROYAL STREET' NOW AT PLAYHOUSE

A little sign, hanging over a doorway, squeaking with each breath of breeze, speaks volumes of the old aristocracy of New Orleans.

In reality and in the play, "Royal Street," current attraction at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, the sign reads: vocal culture, fig preserves a specialty. Lavender and old lace, crinolines and magnolia, faced with the notorious "wolf" and his howl at the door where hospitality was once boundless, should be its inscription.

Any tragic thoughts, however, are quickly dispelled by Author Lee Freeman. "Royal street" is a modern comedy of the old and new South with the bygone era ably represented by two maiden aunts. The side of the younger generation is equally well fortified by a young Mississippi girl and her Yankee suitor.

Thomas Browne Henry, director, has enlisted a chorus of Negro singers to provide a musical background of Creole-Negro spirituals. "Royal Street" is scheduled for a two-weeks run at the Playhouse, ending Saturday, Feb. 8.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

YESTERDAY we started our first continued story. Here's the conclusion!

We told about arrival of George Hind, English brewmaster, in 1876 and establishment of a ranch home on North Placencia avenue on property now owned by Jim Tuffree. Later, we pointed out in our own fumbling fashion, a Dr. Schlesinger arrived and really made things hum—he was an ardent spiritualist and vegetarian, according to history related by Jim.

We've now reached July 4, 1884, when Walter Lockwood Thales arrived. He was an ardent Methodist minister, originally named Lockwood—he added the Thales during the years at the colony, we're told.

Anyway, he arrived, and embraced the new religion, built around the "Oahspee" spiritualistic Bible. A year later William Wiederhold and his wife, Matilda, a trained nurse, came to the colony to care for Mr. Hind, who was in poor health. They later joined the group. Mrs. Wiederhold told Jim most of what he knows about the colony.

When Thales arrived, the colony was almost bankrupt. He put everything on a business basis and ruled with a rod of iron after his arrival. He did all buying and selling—no one else was allowed to leave the grounds, except when he'd take 'em riding in a buggy on Sundays. He even purchased shoes and other articles of clothing in nearby towns—everybody else stayed home!

Jim's records tell us that from then on the colony was a financial success—so much so that at one time they loaned $17,000 to the Anaheim Union Water company!

Another interesting sidelight into the history of the place is shown in the travelogue of Santa Bernardino and Los Angeles stopped there for noonday dinner. Wonder what they fed the travelers? Raw spinach?

Anyway, the colonists prospered. Under Thales' direction, they manufactured walnut oil and olive oil, ground their own flour, including rye flour, and were almost entirely free from outsiders. Children living on the place even had their own school!

Things went along in that fashion until 1921, when Thales died. The original founder of the place, George Hind, had passed away in 1911. And now comes the story of the hidden pot of gold—only we promised Jim we'd point out, carefully, that all gold has now been recovered. He's had treasure hunters in his hands every year because of past history of the place, and is getting tired of it. Blame him?

Thales was on his deathbed. He called the five remaining survivors of the colony to him and told of a buried pot of gold in the house. He explained that he'd passed through several national depressions and had hidden the gold, which was to be used only in extreme necessity.

They followed his directions—down into the cellar, to where there was a mark on the bricks. Then dig 18 inches, were a stove-lid was buried. They dug another foot, and there was an earthen jar. Sure enough, it was there, and in it was $8500 in 50's and 20's and 10's—all gold!

After the leader had died he was buried according to a custom of the colonists—historians claim. He was placed in a grave with a quantity of quicklime. Many early residents of the place were also buried on the place, according to old-timers.

After Thales' death, the gold was divided, and finally the ranch sold, with the five remaining residents sharing the money. According to stories told in the district, those who were brought up on the ranch, having never seen anything of the outside world, had quite a time becoming accustomed to ordinary folk—and we imagine to their dietary habits. However, they did, and are now scattered in different parts of the country.

The original house on the place has been the cause of many rumors, and I'm not punning, throughout the district. It was a huge place—14 rooms, and many of those rooms were circular—some folks say so that spirits couldn't hide in the corners, but Mr. Tuffree explains that it was probably part of their ritualistic business.

When four circular rooms were placed against each other, the space between was utilized for closets. Even the main hallway downstairs was curved.

Incidentally, Mr. Tuffree made an interesting discovery when he tore down the walls a few years ago. Inside the walls was a court order, signed by Superior Court Judge Ignacio Sepulveda, pioneer Los Angeles judge, giving the original founder, George Hind, exemption for household articles after an action for collection of debts.

1000-ACRE MODEL FARM PLANNED AT HUNTINGTON BEACH

OLD STEARNS RANCH WILL BE SITE

Construct New Buildings And Drill Well for Huge Project

By RUSSELL WHITE
HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The old Huntington Beach Rancho is buzzing with farming activities again.

Many busy hands are remodeling and transforming the historic and scenic grounds into a model farm.

Carpenters are busy on new buildings, tractors are chugging across fields, idle for years as plows again turn the sod.

In the old days when the Stearns Rancho company owned the land and later when it was sold to Robert Northam and a syndicate in which the late W. T. Newland was one of the owners, sugar beets and beans were raised.

Was Gospel Swamp
Still earlier, the site then called Gospel Swamp, was settled by Latter Day Saints, but they were driven out by a court order issued by Judge Fields, who determined that the land was the Stearns Rancho company's grant.

The early settlers built a school on Garfield avenue and called it Oceanview because there was a view of the ocean.

At that time there was a cemetery where the city reservoir now stands. The graves were moved to various locations many years ago.

In 1896 Robert Northam built the old ranchhouse on the top of the knoll.

The spacious and rambling dwelling, with its huge kitchen and dining room as large as many civic halls, its large pantries and wide verandas is one of the major landmarks in this part of the country.

Remodel House
The old ranch house has been remodeled and serves as a double residence now and is occupied by R. F. Patrick, ranch manager, and Mr. Evans, who is in charge of construction of the new buildings.

Many products will be raised on the model ranch. Grain and hay will be raised in the fields. A grinding mill will grind straw and hay, which will be mixed with molasses and cotton seed meal to be fed to the cattle which will soon be on the model farm. Cattle will be brought in from New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona to be fattened at this "boarding school."

Hundreds of head of stock, pigs, hogs, turkeys and chickens will soon occupy various places on the farm. A huge vegetable garden is flourishing and an orchard will be planted to fruit trees and berries.

Build Barns
Carpenters are building a new hay barn and a new cow barn will soon be started, also four chicken and turkey brooder houses will be built. Work has been completed on a 50 by 100-foot implement shed and a 25 by 60-foot granary. A huge barn for horses will also be built soon.

New tractors, discs, balers, plows and other equipment will be brought to the farm. Several thousand feet of fence is either built or being built. Stock corrals, stock sales and stock chutes will soon be established on the model farm.

More than 1000 acres will be tilled on the workable soil. A new water well is being drilled on a site near the golf course to provide water for the ranch stock and for farming purposes.

Nasty Seals, Storms at Sea and Bonita Fishing Topics For 'Coastlines'

By McDONALD WHITE

It was a gray day and starting to rain. A fishy, jumpy, jumpy fellow dressed in black oilcloth boots, jacket and storm hat to match, dragged his rowboat out of reach of the breakers and up on the sand, where he tied it with a long rope to a stout post. He said his name was Gilbert Milkin and that he has been fishing for a living off the Laguna coast for more than nine years.

Raindrops fell on the note paper and the pencil slid over those places, so we walked up to the Old Men's club. Three or four men sat around a table playing cards. Fisherman Milkin leaned against the wall and talked about a big run of bonita along this coast for the last several days.

He said it was the first time in his memory when it paid to fish for bonita alone. He caught 700 pounds last Saturday.

The bonita are averaging better than six pounds, ranging from one and a half to eight pounds, and to get them you have to troll. For two weeks the Laguna coast has been crowded with fishing boats, hard at it day and night.

Asked if he liked fishing better than anything else, he replied, "It's fine when you can make any thing at it. It's good now. Lobsters? No, they don't pay to fool with now. Too many grabbed 'em off at the start. Oh, I've got traps out there, but I don't bother to look at them except in my spare time."

And then we got to talking about seals. And, listen, if anybody thinks that the sky does a good job of clouding over when it rains, just watch a fisherman's face come up for discussion.

Here's the first verbal thunderclap: "They ought to pay a bounty on them, or else take off the protection—that's all would be necessary!"

But that was only a baby thunderclap. The next one broke around our ears.

"If all the seals were killed off tomorrow, it wouldn't hurt my feelings! They eat about their own weight in fish every day. And the worst part of it is there are millions of them around here every year."

He shrugged, turned his clear eyes toward the waves and said, "Most of 'em wash in. I gather 'em up. But once I lost a whole mess of 'em."

"Well, what happened to them?"

"Oh, it was high tide and they washed out to sea. I guess the seals ate 'em all up."

By that time the rain was coming down heavy. It was lunch time and seals didn't seem very important any more. We called it quits and went home.

Then Mr. Milkin was asked a few questions about storms.

"What do you do with your boat out there when a good storm, one of our real sou'westers, blows up?"

"Well, I'll tell you," said he. "I lost a boat last year—washed ashore and busted up. That boat I've got out there now, a 24-footer, won't hold in a big sea, so I don't trust her into Newport till things quiet down."

"Do you think Laguna should have a breakwater?"

"No," he answered. "A breakwater is not practical here, but we could use a good pier."

"Do you ever have any trouble landing your row boat in the breakers?"

"He shook his head. "Oh, once in a while it spilt." "What happens to your load of fish?"

He shrugged, turned his clear eyes toward the waves and said, "Most of 'em wash in. I gather 'em up. But once I lost a whole mess of 'em."

"Well, what happened to them?"

"Oh, it was high tide and they washed out to sea. I guess the seals ate 'em all up."

"Charm is the vigor and beauty of ality has the vigor and beauty of charm it makes a favorable impression on other people and love, happiness and success follow as naturally as day follows night. But if one's personality is weak or lacking in the things that produce charm, an unfavorable impression is made. And any person who is always making unfavorable impressions on others can hardly expect anything but failure and unhappiness.

Can Men Be Charming?
"Charm is not confined to women. So many people, especially men, have the idea that charm is something nice, and sweet, and cloying, and nothing more.

"But that is not charm at all. Listen carefully, and I will define charm for you. Charm is that irradiation of the heart and personality that attracts other people. Successful men possess it just as successful women do.

"Charm finds its most magnetic and attractive expression in 40 distinct types of appeal which are evenly divided: 20 for men and 20 for women. On the men's list we find the Dynamic Appeal, the Polished Appeal, the Cordial Appeal and 17 others which are purely masculine in scope. Among the appeals for women we find Glamour, Sophistication, Flattery and others.

Vocational Success
"Charm, too, plays a vital role in winning success in life. You probably know people who rose to the top of the ladder apparently without effort. Luck seems to follow them wherever they go. Money comes to them easily. They have lots of friends; people go to their way to do things for them. Like old King Midas, everything they touch seems to turn to gold, either the gold of success or the gold of happiness. But it isn't luck! It's charm!

"Of two people equally gifted, equally ambitious, equally experienced, the one who possesses charm will win every time. He can't help winning, because the charm of his personality attracts people to him.

"But there are no secrets to charm. Every factor that enters

NAVAL PLAN DECIDED BY POWERS

LONDON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The international naval conference agreed today to a plan by which the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy will announce at the first of each year what their naval construction will be during the following 12 months.

The plan, offered as a compromise in an effort to limit the possibilities of a naval construction race, was the first major agreement reached by the conference in nearly three months of work.

into it is known and understood. And that means that anyone can develop greater charm, simply by putting that knowledge to use. That's the nicest thing about it—no one need be a failure, unhappy, lonely or miserable. It is within our power to develop charm and win from life whatever we wish."

Arrangements have been made with Mrs. Long whereby readers of this newspaper may secure an individual, confidential charm analysis of their own personalities through their handwriting. Her analysis is comprehensive and thorough. It will clearly show your charm development from the social, commercial and cultural and mental standpoints as well as your undesirable qualities. Mrs. Long will definitely tell you the type of appeal best suited to your personality. She will give you practical vocational suggestions—not a crossword puzzle that baffles you, but definite suggestions. In addition, she will send you her intriguing little pamphlet, "Know Yourself," and her fascinating Charm Chart which reveals the Ten Arts of Attraction and the Forty Types of Appeal.

Use the coupon on this page. Follow the instructions carefully and be sure to fill in each line—your handwriting sample alone is not enough for a complete analysis. Mrs. Long will send her valuable report direct to you. No one will see it but you and your name will not be revealed.

NIGHT CLASS SCHEDULES ARE READY

Fifty-three chances to get ahead of yourself is the opportunity offered again next Monday by the adult education department of the city when a new series of classes is opened for the second semester.

Completed schedules of classes will be distributed at the Lewis Browne lecture Monday at 7:30 o'clock in the First Methodist church when the lecturer talks on "Modern Civilization in Russia."

Parent-education classes will be continued in room 314 of the courthouse annex under Mrs. Yula Moore. "Child Behavior" and "Adolescent Problems" are subjects slated for the next two months. Following Mr. Browne's appearance, Dr. Henry P. Eames will give a series of musical lectures in the Willard auditorium.

MORE ABOUT WHITNEY

trict Attorney James L. Davis, Miss Whitney and Len Wallace, clerk of the court. Everything was in readiness at 9 p. m. The jury filed into the box and C. J. Porter, foreman, presented the written verdict to Mr. Wallace. He entered it in his minutes.

Verdict Is Read
Miss Whitney and Mr. Jacobs were seated together inside the rail. There were few persons in the courtroom except those directly connected with the case. Mr. Wallace read the following verdict:

"We, the jury in the above entitled action, find the defendant, Justine Whitney, has committed willful and corrupt misconduct in office as county recorder of Orange county, California, as charged in the accusation."

Miss Whitney received the decision with no visible show of emotion. She appeared to have steeled herself against the news. A few moments later the proceedings were over and the courtroom was empty once more.

Is Civil Case
The case is a civil one with removal from office as the only penalty. The grand jury accused Miss Whitney of failing to file her monthly reports with the county auditor on time. She was charged with depositing funds with the county treasurer which had been collected in one month, whereas her affidavit and statement to the auditor said they had been collected in a prior month.

The accusation implied that, being short of necessary funds for a given month, Miss Whitney used funds of a succeeding month to square herself. This, the accusation alleged, was deceiving the county auditor and treasurer.

Jacobs Raps Auditors
The accusation was filed after grand jury auditors brought in from Los Angeles county had gone over Miss Whitney's records. In his final argument Mr. Jacobs flayed the auditors several times.

"Because they hired these auditors and they had to find something, they pinned it on this gray-haired woman," said Mr. Jacobs. "Somebody had to be placed on the cross of political degradation because they had outside auditors, and they had to have something to do, the grand jury brings this accusation."

"And they'll probably go down the line and bring in one or two more of the same kind."

Commenting on the fact that Miss Whitney's account with the county was squared up last November, Mr. Jacobs asked, "Where's the evidence that she appropriated one dollar for her own use? I'm not denying she was careless, but we're not charged with carelessness. Are we here to oust somebody because of carelessness?"

Miss Whitney testified that her difficulties arose because she ex-

ICY WEATHER CONTINUES IN EAST

By the Associated Press

Biting cold weather still held parts of the nation in its grip today, with little prospect of relief over the week-end.

In New England and along the eastern seaboard the forecast was for continued low temperatures tonight.

tended credit to banks, oil companies and individuals who did not pay their bills. Mr. Jacobs told the jury she got into trouble "just because she had a little too much of the milk of human kindness—and when the banks failed, she stood outside holding the bag. Because she had this kindness you are asked to shove her out in the street."

He admitted that Miss Whitney was late each month after January, 1935, in filing reports with the auditor and making deposits with the treasurer. But in his final plea he asked the jury to "say to her that you didn't willfully and corruptly deceive the county treasurer or county auditor because they knew it every month—and how could they be deceived?"

McCabe's Argument

Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe opened the argument for the people. He reviewed the evidence and then compared Miss Whitney's procedure with funds to that of a packing house manager who might hold out money due growers in one month and make up the shortage out of receipts in the following month. He said that when the growers found this out and sought a criminal complaint, the packing house manager might make good his shortage. The growers, he said, might not press the criminal complaint, but certainly would see that the manager was removed so the trouble could not occur again.

Mr. Davis, in his argument, contended that in each of 10 months between January and November, Miss Whitney committed five felonies because of the manner in which she handled her funds and reports.

"If your banker handled your money that way, what would you think?" he asked. "The law says that if a public official appropriates public money and then pays it back, that is no defense. It makes no difference whether the appropriation is temporary or permanent."

Mr. Davis did not contend that there was any unlawful intent on the part of Miss Whitney. He expressed regret that the matter had to be handled and said it was the most unpleasant duty of his life. It wouldn't have come up, he said, if Miss Whitney was what she was 30 years ago. He asked the jury to remove her from office in justice to herself.

Those on Jury
"If these things should continue, what will your district attorney have to do?" he asked.

The jury which heard the evidence and rendered the verdict consisted of C. J. Porter, Westminster, foreman; Meta A. Vail, Orange; Elizabeth Hansen, Anaheim; May Nelson, Fullerton; John A. Olson, Doheny Park; George W. Brown, Brea; Thomas McCollum, Orange; James Nicholson, Max M. Boege, B. A. Hacker and T. W. Glover, Santa Ana, and G. C. Roseman, Fullerton.

Fishing

Ha-Ha-Item

Can't help it, folks, if we lean away over to the leeward these days. The fish have got us, and since this is Friday anyway, we can't think of a single good reason today for not having at least part of our corner devoted to fishing.

Anyway, try and stop us. If these pieces of news has the effect on you that it had on us, you'll drop the paper after you've gone through the second paragraph and make a dash for the nearest fish market.

It's absolutely irresistible—like all the tales they tell about fishing off Orange county shores. This stuff comes from Don White, who is Laguna correspondent for The Journal. Lookit:

"Nearly 100 fishing boats, many of them from Newport, trilled along the Laguna coastline yesterday. From 9 a. m. on they began increasing until by noon the area from Three Arch bay to Bird Rocks swarmed with boats of every description.

"The biggest run of bonita, ranging from two to eight pounds, is centered in the Laguna area at the present time, according to Gilbert Milkin, commercial fisherman here. The run has been on for about two weeks, but apparently the fishing is getting better every day. Should the bonita stay in these waters over week-end (and we pray?) Mr. Milkin believes the largest collection of fishing and pleasure craft ever seen off this coast will be trolling here over Saturday and Sunday."

How does that leave you, pooper?

Fishermen report that this is the first big run of bonita to concentrate in the Laguna area for years. In fact, they freely predict that it may be more years and still more years before it happens again.

Ha-ha item: "The state athletic commission today legalized the 'drop kick' in wrestling." Guess Joe Savoldi, Nick Lutze and Casey Columbo, who have been using that particular tactic for the past couple years, must feel better now.

This department has the exclusive tip that Harold (Horrible Hal) Wolff, triple-threat fullback of Santa Ana Junior college's 1933 Southern California champions, is ahead for Arizona U. after a brief stay at U. C. L. A. Coach G. A. (Tex) Oliver's Wildcats will be all the wilder if they secure the Orange graduate, who holds a coveted place on Coach Bill Cook's all-time (nine years) Don eleven.

Disbanding practice early, Coach Alvin Rebohn escorted his Don basketball forces to Fullerton Wednesday to scout Fullerton's champions in their game with Phoenix, Ariz., Jaysee. What they saw may do more harm than good. Giant Art Nun's Yellowjackets were sluggish, and fortunate to gain a 22-21 decision from the Arizona whom Santa Ana had outclassed, 36-27, the night before. Over-confidence, downfall of many melon-tossing outfits, will not bother the Dons, but it is no secret their estimation of Fullerton has changed from a "great to a better-than-average five."

Sport shavings: Big Bob McClure, regular first-sacker for the Saints last spring, re-registered at Santa Ana High school this week, but his baseball-playing days in the Coast Prep league are over until 1937. McClure was injured in a traffic accident last fall, missed the first semester. . . . There is slight news in the streamer "Dons Pe- (Please Turn to Page 13, Col. 5)

'Drop Kick' In Wrestling Legalized By State Body

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (AP)—The state athletic commission yesterday approved the "flying drop kick" for wrestling in California at a session here. Chairman George Payne, San Jose, and the full commission attended.

New York and Illinois state athletic commissions were asked by the California body to withhold recognition of a world featherweight champion until Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles Negro, is given a chance at the title. A wrestling club license was

NEW YORK.—Lionel Conacher, star defenseman of the Montreal Maroons hockey team, says boxing is the toughest sport. He ought to know. He has been knocked out by Jack Dempsey, slashed by hockey and lacrosse sticks, bruised in American and Canadian football and tossed out of wrestling rings. Hardly anyone expects them to do it, but Santa Ana High school's struggling Saints can add last-minute drama to Coast league basketball by upsetting San Diego in Andrews gymnasium here tonight. Defeat will lower Mike Morrow's southerners to a first-place tie with the survivor of the Long Beach-Alhambra finale at Long Beach.

Saints Improved
Reece H. Greene's Walnut street preps did not stand a show at San Diego Jan. 17, when they were hopelessly outmaneuvered, 40 to 13. The Saints, however, can be counted on for a much better showing on their own floor. They have unquestionably improved since that licking down south, as was clearly shown in a thrilling 25-24 loss at Alhambra last Friday.

The varsity feature has been moved ahead to 7 o'clock so that the Class A Hillers can get an early start on their 100-mile return trip. San Diego's lightweight, who are not competing in the league, will combat Clyde Cook's "Little Saints" in a practice fray at 8 o'clock.

Merle Morris, former Class B, will make another appearance at forward for the Saint varsity, but Coach Greene plans to substitute 25-pound Bill Milligan at an early interval.

Play Last Game
Co-Captains Erwin Youel, forward, and Bill Flood, guard, will be playing their last league game for the Saints, as will Center Ed Eastham, alert 185-pounder. Steady Sammy Lockhart has another season of eligibility at guard.

San Diego's Morrow plans to lead off with his usual lineup headed by Mel Hendry, Negro center, and Ernie Mallory, forward. Patterson, forward; Randolph and Lee, guards, will be on the floor at the start.

If Santa Ana's cellar quintet should surprise with an upset, San Diego would be forced into a play-off with either Long Beach Poly's 1935 champions or Alhambra's towering Moors.

Orange Monday
The Saints have a post-season game arranged with Orange's Panthers at Orange Monday afternoon, and there is a possibility they will play the Burke Indian school here early next month.

PHOENIX LOSES AGAIN
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 31. (AP)—Phoenix Junior college lost its fourth consecutive game in California last night, Riverside J. C. winning by a score of 37 to 36. Riverside led at the half, 20 to 12. Bolin scored nine and Cox seven points for Phoenix, and Harris, Riverside forward, topped the list with 12.

CUNNINGHAM RACES SIX MILERS

Woolen Millers Set for Test With Alhambra; Orange Wins, 42-20

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—After weeks of searching for outstanding runners and jumpers the Millrose A. A. has made up the complete entry list for its 29th annual indoor games at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, and it looks like a national roster of champions.

In all 450 athletes are entered, including 21 assorted titholders, nine holders of world or American records and a flock of sectional champions; as well as a great array of college club and school relay teams. Twenty states are represented and 40 colleges and universities.

Woolen Millers Set for Test With Alhambra; Orange Wins, 42-20
The high spot of the program comes in the running of the Wana-maker Mile, an event which has seen nearly every outstanding miler in the country in action in recent years. Six of them are listed for tomorrow's running with the great Kansan, Glenn Cunningham, endeavoring to score his fourth straight victory.

In addition to Joe Mangano, former Cornell star, beaten by less than a foot at Boston last week, Pasadena will have to face Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, runner-up three years in a row; Archie San Romani of Emporia, (Kan.) Teachers college, the National Collegiate A. A. mile champion; Don Lash, the Indiana ace, and Norman Bright of California, national junior 1500-meter title holder. Bright, the first Californian ever to enter the race, has never run indoors but was good enough on the cinders last summer to beat Luigi Beccali of Italy, 1932 Olympic winner. Bright is flying to New York from Berkeley for the race.

The fields for the other principal events are just about as good. The Millrose 600 has Charles Hornbostel, the former Indiana runner and world indoor record holder for the distance; Eddie O'Brien, speedy Syracuse runner; Jimmy Elliott of Philadelphia, and Milton Sandler of New York.

Good Hurdlers
The 60-yard high hurdles entry list includes Sam Allen, N. C. A. champion, from Oklahoma Baptist, Forest Towns of Georgia, Dan Caldwell of Indiana, Phil Good of Bowdoin and a flock of other stars.

The two-mile has attracted Joe McCuskey of New York, Ray Sears of Butler, Don Lash, who will try for two major victories; Tom Ottey, former Michigan State star, and Harold Manning of Wichita, Kan.

Among the high jumpers is Cornelius Johnson of Los Angeles. The fields for the other principal events are just about as good. The Millrose 600 has Charles Hornbostel, the former Indiana runner and world indoor record holder for the distance; Eddie O'Brien, speedy Syracuse runner; Jimmy Elliott of Philadelphia, and Milton Sandler of New York.

'JOY' GONE FOR STANFORD ACE
PALO ALTO, Jan. 31. (AP)—If Coach Sam Barry of the University of Southern California basketball team was trying to slow up Angelo (Hank) Luisetti with his remarks that the Stanford forward never would have made 30 points in one game with "respectable officiating," he may have done the trick.

At any rate the modest ace showed no eagerness today to repeat his performance of last Saturday in doing all the work in giving Stanford a 51 to 47 victory over U. S. C.

"It makes me feel funny," Luisetti said, "because it is the first time I have ever been accused of dirty play."

King Bunn and Don Lieben-dorfer say it is Barry's method of trying to make me slow up my play.

"I don't feel like playing when such tactics as this are used. It takes the joy out of playing."

KING LEVINSKY FINED $300
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (AP)—Kingfish Levinsky, Chicago's ring merchant, was back in good favor today with the California Athletic commission at the cost of $300.

FIGHTS

INDIANS HEAD RING SHOW TONIGHT

Don Bendor Returns to Local Arena; Garcia Faces Valenzuela

For the second consecutive week the colorful Sherman Indian boxers dominate the eight-bout program at the Orange County Athletic club with the ace of the Indian squad, Ernie Collins, light-heavyweight, battling Hub Powell, hard-hitting and willing Los Angeles Negro tonight.

Powell's last appearance here was against Lupe Le Mon two weeks ago and although he lost the decision to the Fullerton slugger, Powell displayed plenty of class, willingness to mix and a hefty wallop. The fight was close enough to be called a draw, although amateur rules prohibit such a verdict.

Want Le Mon Again
Last week Le Mon eked out a close win over Collins, so with the Le Mon fight as a basis of comparison, Promoter Sampson's main event rates as a toss up. Fans expect no end of action from the pair. Both will be fighting for a return bout with Le Mon, who yesterday agreed to face Collins should he win from Powell.

Three days ago Coach Harris of the Sherman Institute sent word that he would send Collins to win via a kayo and then go gunning for Le Mon.

The Indian will be in better shape tonight, Harris says. He got up from a sick bed to fight Le Mon last week and was weakened.

Al Garcia On
A lightweight fight of no little importance brings together Al Garcia of this city against Ray Valenzuela of the Sherman squad. Valenzuela is a cub fighter of the first order, a swinger from gong to gong. He outboxed Bill White last week but for some unknown reason, Referee Dolan gave the San Bernardino wildcat the decision. Valenzuela was clearly entitled to the call. Frankie Lockhart has Garcia in top shape for the latter's first 1936 start and thinks that Al will turn back the fast stepping Indian.

Beach Delegation
San Juan Capistrano is sending up a large delegation of fans to watch Hi Gill's middleweight, Henry H. Webber, in action in the special event. Webber meets Felix McCullen of Downey in the special attraction. Two weeks ago the Capistrano youth made his bow against Frankie Herrera and while he lost he showed plenty of fight, as a potential right hander.

Le Bendor returns to the spotlight in a clash with Tony Costello of the Indian team. They are featherers. Another anticipated slugger match brings out Ken Holiday, Anaheim welter, and "Wild Bill" Buffalo, Benny Collins, Sherman, vs. Danny Moreno, El Modena, bantams; Chief Davis, Sherman, vs. Art Forrest, Los Angeles, lightweights and Les Oliver, Sherman, vs. Jimmy Merced, Placentia, feathers, completes the card, which starts promptly at 8:30.

NAGS SHY FROM CAVALCADE
SANTA ANITA, Jan. 31. (AP)—Cavalcade, the "Chocolate Soldier" of the American turf, must wait a few days for his 1936 debut at Santa Anita.

Owners of the horses listed to appear against the big champion withdrew yesterday because of the muddy track, and the sixth race was called off. Cavalcade, said his trainer, Bob Smith, was ready to go. Cavalcade is entered in a race with Discovery Saturday.

ACTIS BATTLES BERGLUND
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31. (AP)—Ray Actis, San Francisco middleweight, unlimbers his heavy punches tonight against Swede Berglund of San Francisco in the 10-round main event at the Legion stadium.

The 24-year-old Italian from the Bay City already holds a three-round knockout over the rugged Swede, but the latter rated no worse than a 1-2 short-ender in betting circles.

Actis scored impressively in his first Hollywood appearance recently, stopping Frank Rowsey in three rounds. Of 43 ring engagements, he has won 32 by the knockout route.

MORE MONEY FOR PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The senate late yesterday granted its special munitions committee more money for its investigation of war time affairs, after Senator Connally (D-Tex.) challenged it to "reveal all" the "secrets" disclosed in nearly 20 months of investigation.

After a temporary postponement of action on the request for $7,369 to complete the investigation halted two weeks ago, the resolution went through without a protesting vote with Connally shouting that it "now has the money" to reveal all he assertedly has been "withholding from the country."

Cashier, Who Pays Extra and Has-Been, Sees Real Heartbreak of Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31. (AP)—Harry Peale sees heartbreak in Hollywood even in his business of handing out some three million dollars a year.

That is the amount he estimates passes through his hands annually in checks and cash to the workers of all branches, from stars to stenographers, from directors to office boys, at the major studio (R-K-O) where he has been cashier for six years.

Everyone Knows Him

Harry is perhaps the best known person on his lot—and one of the best known in Hollywood, for he was cashier at another studio for four years. Everybody who works on the lot gets to know the cashier, who looks out at the studio world through the barred window of his office cage.

Harry Peale is a young cashier who looks out with a smile of encouragement for those who pass. He knows most of the extras, knew some of today's stars when they were extras, and some of today's extras when they were stars.

And there, he says, is the "heartbreak" in his job. Hollywood knows that once-great stars like King Baggott, Florence Turner, Helene Chadwick, Mary McLaren, Frank Mayo and such well known directors as Jerome Storm of the old days are now working as extras or in small roles.

But Harry Peale knows them as they pass his window to collect the reward of their now inconspicuous labors. And in many cases he remembers these same people as they passed his window in the old days of glory and success. He remembers the size of the checks they drew then.

"It would get you," he says, "Especially when you see how they take their changed positions."

Glad to Get $7.50

"Most of them are simply glad to get the $7.50 or $10 for a day's work, and they don't mind showing it. They take it for granted that the show is going on without them, and they are glad to fit in the parade in a small way."

"A few will comment," he adds, "on the size of their checks, but not with the bitterness one might expect. And none of them try to 'cover up' as do some of the extras I know."

"Extras," he explains, "are jealous of their ratings. If an extra gets only $5 for a day's work he doesn't want his friends in the line behind him to know. He will ask me to give him four ones and two halves—so it'll sound like $7.50. One of all of them are like that—but I know by now the ones that will ask for this."

"The old-time stars, now, don't bother about things like that. If it's $2 they get, they'll take a single bill and not seem to mind. If it's $10, they'll ask for one bill and five ones, which makes a bigger-sized 'bank-roll.'"

Inhabitants of 60 neighboring towns of Rochlitz, Germany, have been invited to participate in Rochlitz's celebration in June, 1936, of the 100th anniversary of its founding.

BEATS MAN AND 2 SEEKERS OF WIFE TO DEATH

DILLWYN, Va., Jan. 31. (AP)—A farmer and his wife were beaten to death yesterday by a bandit who came to their home and demanded money.

E. C. Kellenger, 68-year-old farmer, was killed as he struggled with his assailant in the yard of the farm home near here. His wife died later from injuries sustained when the bandit thrusts his way into the home and attacked her.

SENTENCED TO DIE

MINEOLA, N. Y., Jan. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Frances Reighton and Everett C. Applegate were sentenced yesterday to die in the electric chair the week of March 9 for the poison murder of Applegate's wife, Ada, last Sept. 28.

COLON, Panama, Jan. 31. (AP)—Rom Roch and Gustav Pacht, the two explorers who set out weeks ago in an attempt to locate the long lost Paul Redfern in northern Brazil, were reported yesterday near death from tropical diseases.

A letter received here by the American Legion post said both Roch and Pacht were seriously ill in a hospital at Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana. Roch was reported to have malaria and Pacht black water fever.

BLAST FATAL TO BOY

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 31. (AP)—Experiments with chemicals cost the life yesterday of Lester Bullock, 15. He died of injuries inflicted when a bottle exploded in his hands.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

NOT SO LONG AGO, in these very columns, Richard Himber, one of the airlines' ace dance masters, told you how much his success was due to Rudy Valle. For it was under Valle's sponsorship that the name of Richard Himber first became a favorite with dial twisters. Because he is proud of his protégé, and because the youthful musician will be celebrating his 100th broadcast for the Studebaker people, the "Champion" program tonight. (KHJ, 9)

"CARMEN" IS THE Metropolitan Opera broadcast tomorrow morning. The delightful Rosa Ponselle will essay the title role. Written for a mezzo-soprano, it will be interesting to hear Miss Ponselle, a prima donna of the higher registers, in such familiar low-voice arias as the "Habenera," "Siquiera" and "Card Scene."

Charles Kuzma sings Don Jose; Ezio Pinza, the gay Torador, and Helen Oelheim, a favorite with dialers, the part of Mercedes. (KFI, KECA, 10:55)

"HOLLYWOOD HOTEL" guests tonight are Edward Arnold, Lee Tracy and Binnie Barnes. The movie is "Sutter's Gold." (KHJ, 6) "Three Who Loved" is the play the First Nighter will take us to. (KFI, 7)

"Calling All Cars" recalls the case of the "Bull in a China Shop." (KFI, 7)

Carlotta King, soprano, with Meredith Willson's orchestra stands out on the Blue network. (KFSB, 6) Everett Hoagland plays the Pasadena Community dance. (KNX, 11) Phil Ohman's dance band is now broadcasting from the exclusive Trocadero club in Hollywood. (KFSB, 9:30)

Old Nancy takes you back across three centuries to Scotland to tell you the eerie story of Captain McElise and "The Bell." (KHJ, 9:30)

STUDENTS TO VOTE ON 'SOLDIERING'

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 31. (AP)—The University of California student body will vote tonight on the voluntary vs. compulsory military training issue, F. Arthur Harris, student body president, announced here.

A petition recently sent to the board of regents asking that training be made voluntary, and stating the "majority" of the students favored it, was really "nothing more than a generality," he said. An actual poll should be valuable, he said.

Prof. Reginald George Stapledon, director of the Welsh plant breeding station, has announced the station has produced a new strain of grass.

SENATE GIVES NEW BOARD APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—The senate late yesterday confirmed without opposition President Roosevelt's reorganized federal reserve board, including Mariner S. Eccles of Utah, who is slated for the new chairmanship Feb. 1.

The action was taken by unanimous consent as the rules provided the house appointments go over a day after they are formally reported. Mr. Eccles was named for a four-year term.

The other five appointments approved, with a seventh to come later, were:

M. S. Szymczak, Chicago, 12 year term; Joseph A. Broderick, New York, 14 years; Ronald Ransom, Georgia, six years; John McKee, Ohio, 10 years; and Ralph W. Morrison, Texas, two years.

BUSINESS MEN ELECT BOARD

Newly elected members of the board of directors of the Santa Ana Business Men's association will be installed in office Feb. 18, at a joint meeting of the old and new boards, it was announced today by Secretary Phil Brown.

Balancing conducted during the past two weeks by mail resulted in the election of B. H. Baker, Rodney Bacon, Plummer Bruns, Bob Fernandez, Claude Knox and Fred Newcomb as members of the board.

Hold-over members are Walter Swanberger, C. Gilmore Ward and J. L. Bascom.

Officers of the board will be elected at the joint meeting on Feb. 18. Next luncheon meeting of the association will be held on next Monday noon at James cafe, Mr. Brown said.

GRANGES PLAN OPEN SESSION

An open meeting, at which representatives from Granges throughout the county will appear, will be held by the Tustin Grange on Feb. 14 in the basement of the Tustin Presbyterian church, it was announced today by Secretary R. A. Schastig. Any interested in the work of the Grange in Orange county are invited to attend.

Beginning tonight, the Grange will hold its meetings on the second and fourth Fridays of each month, in the church basement, Mr. Schastig said.

ARMY IS TAKING NEW RECRUITS

The United States Army now is accepting applications for enlistment in the United States army through the recruiting sub-station at the Santa Ana postoffice, it was announced today by Col. Aubrey Lippincott, district recruiting officer.

Vacancies are to be filled in the Sixth Coast artillery, Fort Winfield Scott, Calif.; Third Coast artillery, Fort MacArthur, San Pedro; 63rd Coast artillery, Fort MacArthur; 76th Field artillery, Monterey Presidio, and the Eleventh Cavalry, Monterey Presidio. Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 35 years, single and without dependants, Col. Lippincott stated.

MOVIE OF INDIA WILL BE SHOWN TO CHURCH GROUP

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Church of the Brethren, Ross and Camille, moving pictures of India will be shown.

The Rev. Leland S. Brubaker, pastor of the church of the Brethren will explain the pictures. The Rev. Mr. Brubaker took the films while visiting the mission fields of the church. He has been back six months. He had previously spent three years as a missionary in China and understands the mission spirit.

On Feb. 14, The Rev. Mr. Brubaker will show three reels of African pictures taken on the same trip.

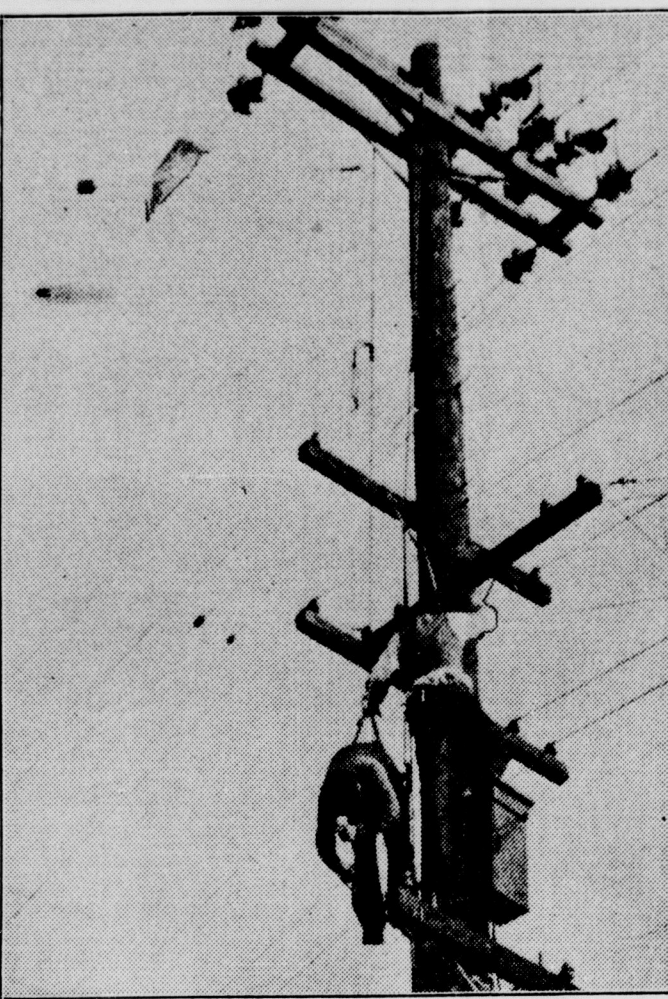

Mail Man Has New System For Beating Weather

SCHAFER, N. D., Jan. 31. (AP)—Herman Gierke has his mail troubles, but with the aid of an automobile and a horse, he beats the weatherman.

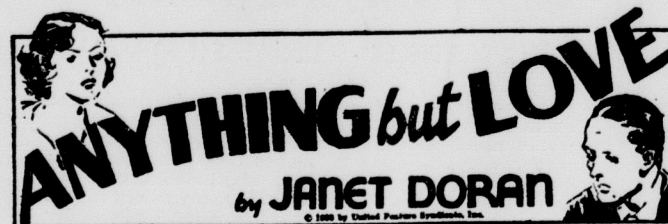

Gierke, a rural mail carrier, used to the blasting sweeps of wind and snow off the level prairies, has worked out his own method.

His "transportation" consists of a truck on which he loads his horse and the mail. When he gets bogged down or a drift of snow blocks the road, he unloads the horse, hitches it to the truck and "pulls out."

Lineman Makes Dramatic Rescue

When he climbed this 60-foot pole at Oakland, Calif., to try to free a boy's kite, 20-year-old Clivo Francisco was trapped in the high tension wires. Edward Douglas, a lineman, climbed the pole, extricated the youth and lowered him to the ground, as shown in this picture in which the kite may also be seen still caught to a wire. Francisco was badly burned and may lose both arms. (Associated Press Photo)

Alma Whitaker, social butterfly in the little town of Burrhead, falls in love with Johnny Anthony, a nobody who turns up from nowhere. He seems to be in love with her but because of some mysterious secret in his past, flings up a barrier between them. When Alma's father goes bankrupt and suffers a breakdown, Johnny does all in his power to aid Alma, but still draws the line at offering her his love. To spite him, Alma lets him think that she is going to marry Sid Dornick, rich young banker, and Johnny, embittered, leaves town. Actually, Alma has decided to try to get a job. Meanwhile, her rich and domineering Aunt Harriet Falken has taken her ailing father away to escape the gossip attendant on his financial ruin.

CHAPTER XXII
The red-brick mill towered, in soot-blackened, stolid indifference, eight stories above the cement sidewalk. Over one doorway was a black-and-white sign which read, "Office Entrance."

Alma entered and found herself in a small reception hall divided by a railing with a swinging gate. It was her second day of job-hunting. The first had brought no results.

A girl, chewing gum, came to the railing and asked her what she wanted.

"May I see the employment manager?" Alma asked.

"Where's your card? What d'you do? Where you from?" the girl shot at her in a bewildering succession.

"Must one have a card?" Alma asked uncertainly.

The girl laughed, but not unkindly.

"Say," she drawled, "you are green, aren't you?"

Alma winced. Sister! Sister to this hard, brittle, bristly efficient young person who appraised her with shrewd eyes.

"Awfully," Alma admitted ruefully, "but I can learn. What do I do first?"

The girl softened. "Well," she said briskly, "the first thing you do is fill out one of these application blanks. Put down whatever you can do, your name, address, age and previous employment, and I'll take it to the assistant manager."

She handed Alma a long printed form and a pen, and then turned back to her desk. Alma filled out the form as best she could, but when she came to "Previous employment," she hesitated. She had no previous experience, and she didn't know how to do anything. She reluctantly wrote down, "None," and just then the office girl returned.

"Don't take it so hard, sister. Let's see."

The girl studied the form and frowned, tapping her teeth with a bright-colored pencil.

"Hmmm. Well, I'll take it in to Kendrick's. Wait here." She disappeared through a ground-glass door.

Alma sat down on a hard chair and waited, wishing that she had not come.

"I should have known better," she thought bitterly. "I don't know any more about this world than a duck does about deserts!"

The only thing that kept her from leaping up and fleeing from the building was the inescapable fact that she had to stick it out. She had to find work. She could not back down and run away just because she was scared. She had to make good, for her father's sake. She must not give way to panic.

The ground-glass door opened, and a short, thick-set man in shirt-sleeves and vest, with an eye-shade on his forehead, followed the girl out.

"You're Miss Whitaker—er—the drugist's daughter?" he inquired uncertainly. "Lawson Whitaker's daughter?"

"Yes," Alma admitted, "and I want a job. Any kind of a job!"

He frowned at her, then studied the application blank.

"I'm afraid you've come to the wrong place, Miss Whitaker."

"But—er—I'll take this application to Mr. Garrett, our general manager, and see what he thinks."

Alma sat down again. She noticed the brisk efficiency of the office girl. She got the impression that she liked her job, and it came to her that other workers probably enjoyed their jobs, too.

Her train of thought was interrupted as a door opened and a tall, bronzed giant in overalls and blue shirt exploded into the room.

"Listen, gorgeous," he snapped at the office girl, "get Mr. Garrett in a hurry! There's the devil to pay in the dye room!"

The girl hurried away, and the man paced up and down impatiently. His eyes flicked Alma briefly, but turned away again as if she had been part of the office furniture.

The assistant manager returned, accompanied by a tall, gray-haired man of distinguished appearance, who was evidently Mr. Garrett.

"Miss Whitaker?" the latter addressed Alma. "We're very sorry that we haven't any opening in our office right now. If you'll come back in a few months, perhaps there may be a vacancy. We're on short staff now."

He smiled in dismissal, then turned to the workman.

"What's wrong this time, Sands?"

Alma picked up her purse and gloves, and turned slowly toward the outer door, her feet lagging, her shoulders drooping. Of course they wouldn't have anything; of course they'd want experienced help!

Mr. Garrett was looking after her, noting every line of defeat in her slight, girlish figure, as he listened to what the workman was saying. And just as Alma grasped the door handle, he spoke quickly, impulsively.

"Just a moment, Miss Whitaker! Were you looking for office work only? Because there's an opening in the mill—in the dye-chemical department. That is, if you'd be willing to work for very little while we're breaking you in."

"I'll do anything," Alma said earnestly. "I'd gladly work overtime."

"That will hardly be necessary," Mr. Garrett said gruffly. "I only hope it won't be too difficult for you to get the swing of things. You see, Miss Whitaker, the profit margin is so narrow that every little thing counts. We're either a big machine, working smoothly, or we're a wreck, with creditors nailing up our doors!"

"I—understand!" she said huskily.

He stared at her a moment, and then suddenly, reached out a lean hand and grasped one of hers.

"I'm sorry," he said gruffly. "And you'll get along. I hope you like up. Kendrick's, will you—er—get Miss Whitaker started?"

Judge Wants To Find Out If Bull Has 'Reputation'

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Jan. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Amy Johnson sued a dairy firm for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, allegedly killed by a bull of "vicious reputation."

"Whoever heard of a bull having a reputation?" countered defense attorneys.

"That," Mrs. Johnson said, "is a question on which I would like to have some good authorities submitted."

URGES NATION BE PREPARED

In a plea for preparedness for America, Raymond E. Smith, captain of the reserve corps on national defense, addressed Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war Wednesday night at a meeting in the K. of C. hall.

"Congressional authority for a standing army of 165,000 should be maintained although only 135,000 are in service today," Captain Smith declared. "Fundamental causes of war are the same today as they have been for centuries," he said. He believed enactment of the universal service act would be of great assistance in future emergencies.

Past State Commander John F. Burke, Riverside, and Hugh Harrell, eighth district adjutant, also of Riverside, invited the members to attend the district meeting in that city next Sunday.

Russell Crouse sang "The Gypsy Trail" and "At the End of the Road" in a group of solos. Miss Mildred Marchant accompanied him at the piano.

The women's auxiliary served a buffet lunch during the social hour which followed the business session.

START CLASS IN CITIZENSHIP

Monday, Feb. 3 is the starting date for the new class in citizenship at the Lathrop Evening High school. This class is organized and conducted for those who expect to be naturalized in the near future.

Government and history of the United States is considered the first few weeks of the course, and the last part takes up local and state government. Miss Nell Hunt will be the teacher. The class will meet in room No. 2.

During the first lessons, the new federal regulations concerning immigration and naturalization will be explained. Franklin Davis, local inspector of immigration and naturalization, has arranged a meeting of all the citizenship teachers of the county for Saturday afternoon. At this time the assistant director of naturalization will be present to give latest decisions and opinions of the bureau of naturalization.

HIGHWAY OF LIFE TOPIC FOR TALKS AT C. E. SERIES

Sunday Christian Endeavor societies of the Church of the Brethren will begin a project for our subsequent evening services. The subject is "The Highway of Life."

Each of the four societies will give a presentation of its particular subject to be illustrated on the stage mountain. Dolls will be used to show action along the "Highway."

The societies will prepare their presentation during the 6:30 period, present them at the 7:30 service, and each will take a turn furnishing special music for the evening.

Scraps Used By Placentia Woman to Make Money; She Fashions Jackets With 'Em

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

Mrs. Ollie Snell, Placentia dry goods store owner, has more scraps than almost anyone—but she's happy just the same!

"I was left alone in the world with three small children to rear, so I learned to make use of scraps," is the way Mrs. Snell explains that she was the first person in America to make leather jackets of odd bits of leather, thereby starting a national craze.

For nearly 25 years, since she stopped being Placentia's first school nurse and domestic science teacher, the Placentian has been a storekeeper. Her business motto is: "Do things other stores haven't thought of doing."

So, five years ago when pennies were scarce, she experimented and found she could make a warm leather jacket for a child for 15 cents, or one for father for between 35 cents and a dollar, according to the quality of the leather. Word spread of her plan, and people came from nearby cities to buy leather scraps and learn her method of using them.

"The leather cutting houses gave me the scraps—they'd had to pay for having them hauled away before," she said. "The first winter I sold enough leather for 1500 coats."

"Since then, we've had orders from every state in the union, and one from China."

Nor has her enterprise ceased with leather. You can make eight pairs of women's shorts for 15 cents, by buying scraps. Or, you can sew together a pair of outing flannel "pjamas" for the same amount. During depression years, hundreds of pounds of flannel were sold to energetic housewives. "My eye drawn by a stack of gay wool patterns worked on washrag backgrounds, I inquired as to their nature, and found they were pillow tops, or chair backs, if you like."

"Here's a novelty I'm selling for a man who can't do anything else in his wheel chair to support himself," Mrs. Snell said, indicating tin holders with paper flowers. "And these satin pillowtops are buying all the medicine for a girl who's had a very serious operation."

I could see another of her motives was to help people whenever possible.

"Silk pieces and leather are winter goods," the storekeeper continued. "We perhaps will have to figure out something to keep business going next summer."

She turned away from me to rustle a pair of tennis shoes and kneel before a brown-eyed "munchacho" in a rocking chair to fit him "for Sunday wear."

Baths at School

"I used to take my bath at the school, when I first came to Placentia," Mrs. Snell smiled. "It was so the children who had no bathtubs at home would feel free to bathe at school. We had a regular schedule for taking baths."

Thinking back on Mrs. Snell's struggles, I asked whether it had been hard to be a good provider for her family.

"At times it looked like an impossibility," was the confession. "When I leased a little store and made my first wholesale order, it was a cash deal for $34, every penny I had. The wholesale house almost refused to serve me, thinking it was a personal purchase. Then, later ill health made me sell out and rest for four years. But I started all over again, and now I own this building and the one next door.

"It's been a lot of worry and a lot of work, but I've made many friends and had some fascinating times, experimenting on using things that others throw away. I figure if you go after things they always come to you, finally."

As I turned to go, and thanked Mrs. Snell for her time and patience, she answered, "It's all right. I'm just surprised that anybody feels my life is interesting."

By FRANCES TIPTON LONG
Famous Charm and Personality Analyst

Charm is within the reach of everyone is the inspiring theme of this brilliant series of articles by America's foremost authority on charm and personality, Mrs. Frances Tipton Long. Her deep, sympathetic knowledge of life and emotions enables her to explain clearly and simply the things about charm, personality and success that have always been baffling. Every MAN, every WOMAN will gain something from these articles—new knowledge, more hope, greater ambition—the things that build happiness and success.

The Ten Arts of Attraction

Life is nothing but a series of contacts with other people. If you make a favorable impression, you take a step forward. If you do not, you take a step backward. There are exactly ten methods by which you can make favorable impressions, the impressions that lead to love, happiness and success. These are the Ten Arts of Attraction, which Frances Tipton Long discusses in her fascinating articles to appear in this paper.

Movie Stars Analyzed

In her intensely interesting articles, Mrs. Long will analyze the personalities of many noted people, including some of the more successful motion picture stars. She will show you just why they are charming, why they are successful, and how you can use them to increase your own charm and success.

Free Charm Chart

To those who are interested, Mrs. Long will send free a copy of her famous Charm Chart, which reveals the Ten Arts of Attraction, the Forty Types of Appeal, provided the requests are accompanied by the special coupon which will be published with her daily stories. She will prepare an individual charm analysis of YOUR OWN personality, tell you your Type of Appeal, give you practical vocational advice and suggestions, and send you her interesting pamphlet, "Know Yourself." Don't wait for the special coupon entitling you to her services. Don't write to her until it comes.

The Forty Types of Appeal

There are exactly forty Types of Appeal—twenty for men and twenty for women—by which you can express your personality. But they are not interchangeable. You must use the Type of Appeal best suited to you. Frances Tipton Long, America's foremost authority on charm and personality, is the only analyst in America who can tell you YOUR Type of Appeal.

JOAN CRAWFORD possesses an unusual type of appeal but one which always leads to happiness and success. Frances Tipton Long analyzes Miss Crawford in her interesting Charm Analysis articles.

CLARK GABLE is additional evidence that charm is as important for men as it is for women. Mrs. Long's articles are vitally important to every man who is interested in winning success.

GRETA GARBO, whose personality will be analyzed for charm by Frances Tipton Long in the notable series of articles, Charm Analysis.

RICARDO CORTEZ is another of the many famous motion picture stars who will be analyzed by America's foremost authority on charm and personality.

'STRONG MAN' OF GREECE SUCCUMBS

General Kondylis Dies Suddenly; Political Trouble Feared

By ALEXANDER SEDGWICK
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
ATHENS, Jan. 31.—Gen. George Kondylis, 55-year-old former "strong man" of Greece, died suddenly today and the Athens garrison was ordered to stand by on guard against any eventualities.

Authorities said no trouble threatened immediately, but they took the precautions in view of a recent statement by Kondylis, which caused considerable apprehension, that he had intended to use force, if necessary, to prevent the liberal Venizelists, who won Sunday's election, from gaining control.

Suffers Attack

The general, long a sufferer from asthma, died at noon after a heart attack during the night.

Reflecting the troubled political situation, rumors soon circulated that Kondylis was poisoned by political enemies, but this was quickly denied by his own associates.

These sources said Kondylis, former regent who split with the recalled King George after taking a leading part in the restoration of the Greek monarchy, was affected greatly also by his recent political break with Jean Theotokis, once his co-leader in the Populist party.

Loses Election

General Kondylis, who downed last March's revolution, was active politically until last Sunday's election for a new assembly.

In that election, his faction gained only 63 of the 300 seats in parliament, while the Liberal Venizelist group won control of 142 seats.

CHURCH HEAD TO BE FETED

Presbyterians of Orange county will center celebration for the visit of Dr. Joseph A. Vance, moderator, at a luncheon at the Green Cat cafe at 12:15 o'clock tomorrow. It was announced today by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, in charge of the reception.

Reservations are being taken at the church office, telephone 2372, from church members throughout the county as well as in Santa Ana.

The national moderator's visit here is included in a series of trips through Southern California, extending from Jan. 29 to Feb. 2. He will go to the Riverside Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and that evening at the Pasadena Presbyterian church Sunday morning, and that evening at the Inman Presbyterian church in Los Angeles.

Pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Detroit, Dr. Vance is also president of the board of national missions. The visit of the moderator, symbolizing the relationship of the local area with the world-wide church, is said to have become a tradition of the Southern California program.

With more than a score of talented Santa Ana amateurs entered, plans were completed today for the "Search For Talent Contest" to be staged Monday night at the American Legion hall here.

Presented with the cooperation of the Estin Burks and Vera Getty dance studios of Santa Ana and the Institute of Musical Arts, the contest will be staged as a vaudeville revue with several professional acts on the program as well as the amateur contest.

Professional bookings and prize awards will be given to the local amateurs receiving the most applause, according to Ted Burrell, master of ceremonies. Various Santa Ana merchants are cooperating in the contest by donating prize awards.

The complete cast includes Dorothy Egginton, eccentric dancer; Billie Lamon, singer; Valerie Snow, blues singer; Carroll Miller, child actress; Virginia Stewart, pianist; Audria Fey, whistler; Fredrick Garland, baritone; Marvin Crawford, tap dancer; Madeline Paxton, accordionist and vocalist; Nelson Rogers, baritone; Howard Baselle, comedian; the Vardy sisters, vocalists; Kenneth Ulrich, whistler; Ruth Oakes, harpist; Jack Faust and Marjorie Fullenwider, ballroom team from the Estin Burks dance studio; Thelma Stroud, Louise Seavy and Nye Martin, entertainers from the Vera Getty studios; and several acts from the Hollywood studios of the Institute of Musical Arts in Santa Ana.

TRAIN JUMPS 30 FT. INTO RIVER BED

Hospital Overcrowded, Injured Are Laid In Rows on Floor

SUNBURY, Pa., Jan. 31. (AP)—Three dead and 31 injured were counted today as railroad crews and volunteers, working in sub-zero weather, took the last of the casualties from the wreckage of the Reading company's night express train which plunged 30 feet from a Susquehanna river bridge.

The company had announced that a fourth person, an unidentified Bucknell university student, was killed. He was accounted for later among the injured, the company said.

Speeding through the night on its run from Williamsport to New York, the express "Williamsporter" hurtled from the north end of the span last midnight, down to the bed of an abandoned canal, not many feet from the Susquehanna, itself.

The dead were: Dr. Guy Rothfuss, 32, of Williamsport.

Washington Danshaw, 24, a fireman.

William Ramp, 24, a fireman.

Dr. Rothfuss and Danshaw were broken neck killed in the wreckage. A fourth died in a hospital later.

The injured were rushed to the Mary H. Packer hospital in Sunbury, crowding that institution to such an extent that many of those hurt were laid in rows on the floor.

First Since 1934

The passengers killed were said to be the first to meet death by accident on railroads in the United States since 1934. According to a recent announcement by the Western Association of Railway Executives no passenger was killed on a railroad in the United States during 1935.

Witnesses told of hearing a blast and of seeing a blinding glare as the train pulled onto the span, leading to reports the boiler had exploded. No definite cause could be learned in the first investigation, however.

Passengers Screaming

Dr. J. K. Fisher, Sunbury physician and one of the first to reach the scene, told of hearing "the passengers screaming."

"Two boys with me," he said, "found one dead in the coaches. The rescuers were beating with down to bring out the injured."

The bridge is at the foot of Blue Hill, a 400-foot peak towering above the Susquehanna. It curves at this point over the highway and canal bed, and then straightens out for the stretch across the river. It was at this curve that the crash occurred.

The locomotive, in its drop, ripped off two spans of the bridge, slid along the canal bed for several feet and finally stopped, battered and crushed, at the very brink of the frozen river.

A light snow was falling as the train pulled into the curve in the bridge. Hubbard Beck, a nearby resident, peered through the storm at the lights of the cars as they sped along the span. Suddenly, he said, the locomotive seemed to come to a complete stop. The flare of shooting flame followed. Then the train plunged downward.

FLOOD CONTROL LAWS URGED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—President Roosevelt recommended yesterday that congress define principles for federal-state cooperation in dealing with soil and flood problems originating in "little rivers."

In transmitting to the capitol a report of the national resources committee entitled "Little waters: Their use and relations to the land," Mr. Roosevelt said in a message:

"The report points out that we can have no effective national policy in those matters, nor in the closely related matter of proper land uses, until we trace this running water back to its ultimate sources and find means of controlling it and using it."

"Our disastrous floods... our major problems of erosion... originate in a small way in a multitude of farms, ranches and pastures... We must have literally a plan which envisage the problem as it is presented in every farm, every pasture, every wood lot, every acre of the public domain."

"The congress could not formulate, nor could the executive carry out the details of such a plan, even though such a procedure were desirable and possible under our form of government."

"We can, however, lay down certain simple principles and develop a program by which the federal government can cooperate in the common interest with the states and with such interstate agencies as may be established."

$150,000 FIRE AT VENTURA WAREHOUSE

Three Buildings Near Wharf Burn; Other Damage Results

VENTURA, Jan. 31.—Fire believed to have been started by static electricity shortly before noon yesterday swept through three Ventura Wharf and Warehouse company buildings on the city's water front, causing damage estimated at $150,000.

Great flames, fanned by a slashing East wind, shot high over the city, gutting three large warehouses, burning small craft anchored beneath the pier, and damaging the pier itself.

Oil Tank Explodes

In the midst of the conflagration, an oil tank exploded, menacing the lives of regular and volunteer firemen. Every available fire-fighting unit in the city fought desperately to save thousands of dollars worth of valuable waterfront properties and buildings.

It was reported to be the most destructive fire in the history of the city.

Damage at Park

Sparks from the fire soon were carried to the roof of the grandstand at Seaside park, causing damage of approximately $5000.

Fishermen grieved loss of a fishing supply shed at the base of the pier. A motor boat belonging to Mack Selby, well-known sportsman, was reduced to ashes.

Union Oil company's pipe line, an oil supply system to tankers, was cracked and damaged to the extent of $500.

Manager Dies

At the time of the fire, Walter Chaffee, for 11 years manager of the warehouse company, died at the home of his son, Faye Chaffee, at 1604 Vista Del Mar street. Mr. Chaffee, a victim of heart disease, by coincidence, was not aware that flames were gradually eating away his place of business.

Bomb Seeds With Sound Waves To Increase Yields

MOSCOW, Jan. 31. (AP)—

Soviet scientists reported potato and pea crops can be greatly increased by bombarding the crop seeds with sound waves before planting.

"Ultrasound" vibrations with a frequency of several hundred thousand a second and inaudible to the human ear are used.

Potatoes exposed to the waves one minute several months before planting sprouted earlier than usual and yielded up to 60 per cent higher than normal, the Moscow Institute of Roentgenology announced.

INJURED IN CRASH

John Chesser, 68, Cypress, was slightly injured late yesterday, when he drove his car from a filling station and collided with a machine driven by Loraine Young, 35, Anaheim. The accident occurred at Lincoln boulevard and Moody street near Cypress.

King Edward's Travels Aided Britain's Commerce

Among his activities as "one-man sales organization" for Great Britain, the new king opened the British Empire exposition in Buenos Aires in 1931. He is seen chatting with his hostess on that occasion. Mrs. Stella de Carcano.

(Second in a Series)

By JAMES B. RESTON

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

A "one-man sales organization" for the empire he now heads, King Edward VIII of Great Britain came first to the United States in 1919. New York dressed up its granite canyons in his honor, wheeled him up Broadway, sent a storm of ticker tape whirling down upon his shoulders.

There was nothing staid and superior about this prince.

He sang the praises of American women; he danced with them; he dressed in the most comfortable and the most astonishing plaid; Americans liked his informality.

He went from New York to Canada, where he hunted and bought a ranch in the Canadian Rockies. The following year, 1920, he stopped at San Diego on his way to New Zealand via the Panama Canal and the West Indies. The next year he went to India, and thence to Hongkong and Japan. But he was back on the American continent in '23 and '24.

What Manner of King?

And so he spent his 20's; in 1925 it was South Africa and South America; in '27 he was back at the ranch in Canada; in '28 he decided to go to East Africa to hunt; but his sport was cut short by the serious illness of his father, and for the first time the British Empire began to estimate what sort of king this handsome young man would be.

He decided to finish the East African trip when his father had recovered, so back he went in 1930. Two years later he made his final extended trip to Argentina, where he drummed up business at the British trade exposition.

Since then he has been frequently in the public eye, making speeches and setting the fashions for British and American men. There was nothing timid about the way he attacked the latter duty. When he ordered sports clothes from his tailor, he demanded something that could be seen from tee to green.

Friendly With Sportsmen

And the English people liked this. They imitated him. Anything he wore (with the exception of a brilliant red shirt he introduced at Biarritz in 1932) immediately was the vogue. They liked to see him hobnobbing with Walter Hagen, Bobby Jones and the other Americans who were monopolizing the British golf titles.

He took them to his residence. He played golf with them. And it wasn't bad golf, either. All this cemented him in the affections of his people.

Republican Registration Leads Democrats By 462, Figures Show

The Republican lead over their Democratic brethren in Orange county continued today as County Clerk J. M. Backs announced new totals tabulated from registration of voters which began Jan. 2. Of the 20,150 registrations tabulated so far, 9941 are Republican and 9479 are Democratic.

The Republicans thus have a lead of 462.

Figures Given

Mr. Backs announced tabulated figures for Anaheim, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Costa Mesa and Newport Beach. Democrats are leading in the three latter cities.

The figures for Anaheim follow: Republican, 1211; Democratic, 1165; Prohibition, 9; Progressive, 1; Non-Partisan, 15, and decline to state, 51, making a total of 2452.

Fullerton: Republican, 1351; Democratic, 1183; Prohibition, 17; Socialist, 3; Non-Partisan, 3; Farm-Labor, 1; decline to state, 75; total, 2633.

Huntington Beach: Republican, 428; Democratic, 698; Prohibition, 8; Socialist, 4; Non-Partisan, 4; decline to state, 18; total, 1160.

Newport Beach: Republican, 473; Democratic, 566; Socialist, 6; Non-Partisan, 5; Townsend party, 2; decline to state, 33; total, 1055.

Costa Mesa: Republican, 385; Democratic, 523; Prohibition, 4; Socialist, 3; Non-Partisan, 4; Independent, 2; decline to state, 50; total, 971.

Five for Townsend

The tabulation for the county total so far shows the following: Republican, 9941; Democratic, 9479; Prohibition, 98; Socialist, 47; Progressive, 1; Non-Partisan, 69; Independent, 17; Progressive-Republican, 1; Townsend party, 3; Townsend plan, 2; Liberty, 2; Farm-Labor, 1; decline to state, 489, and total, 20,150.

Total registration for the county is destined to keep climbing, judging from figures at the last general election in 1934. The total at that time was 66,403, Mr. Backs said.

Party Affiliations Forgotten as Santa Anans Throng President's Ball

Hundreds In Attendance At Parties

Dancing at Veterans Hall Vies in Popularity With Cards at Ebell

Republican, Democrat or dark horse?

It didn't seem to matter last night, when hundreds of Santa Anans joined with Americans throughout the nation in the third President's Birthday ball festivities, for the benefit of infantile paralysis sufferers in Orange county and at Warm Springs, Ga.

Dancing in the Veterans' hall and cards in Ebell clubhouse proved equally popular. Good music, good nature and pleasant weather combined to make the evening a success for those sharing in the third ball.

Variety of Frocks
Frank Niemans' orchestra played for dancing.

A variety of pretty gowns and dinner dresses and many a less formal frock added color to the dance scene.

Seen dancing were Mrs. A. G. Flagg, dance chairman, in olive green satin with jacket to match, and accents of gold beading and gold slippers. . . Mrs. Harold Brown in navy blue taffeta with Dubonnet velvet trim. . . Mrs. C. M. Featherly in tomato crepe with little jacket and harmonizing incidentals.

Mrs. O. H. Holmes in soft white crepe with gold buckle on the side and gold slippers—the white setting off her black hair to advantage. . . Mrs. John Cannon in gold satin and gold flowers in her hair. . . Mrs. Fred Rowland, who with Mayor Rowland led the grand march, in brown with gold threading and gold accents. . . Mrs. J. Russell Wilson in black skirt and pale blue sheer blouse with big sleeves.

And More Gowns
Mrs. Harry LeBard in blue tulle cloth with red flowers. . . Mrs. Joe Smith, whose husband was general chairman, in red taffeta, very becoming. . . Mrs. Lloyd Banks in black taffeta with gold. . . Miss Elizabeth Smith in black velvet with gardenias.

Mrs. Harry Fink in Dubonnet moire with corsage. Mrs. Carlyle Dennis in blue and white print and red corsage. . . "Mother" Fannie E. Reevings, who served punch, in black beaded chiffon, a pink carnation in her lovely hair.

Mrs. Ira Cruze in black with white trimmings. . . Miss Naomi Crosswell in deep blue spring print, cleverly made. . . Miss Virginia Berry, gray frock, green hat. . . Mrs. Homer Chaney, black gown with brilliant red corsage.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY OF BAPTIST CHURCH FETES HUSBANDS

Men were the favored and pursued ones at the executive board luncheon of the Woman's society of the First Baptist church Wednesday at the home of Mrs. A. M. Robinson in Tustin. It was their annual meeting when husbands of the officers are special guests.

The motif had followed a Leap Year idea. Each of the men was given a boutonniere from his escort. The menu had a heart and tongue course and a date delight for dessert.

Hostesses were valentines on their sleeves. Tables were decorated with orchid sweet peas and maiden hair fern, with special candy favors for the men.

Plans for reciprocity day, Wednesday, Feb. 5, were discussed at the business meeting, under direction of Miss Lula Minter, president. The president and one other guest from each society in the association are to be invited to attend. "One Hundred Years Ago," a centenary pageant, celebrating 100 years of work in the four mission fields, will be given on the program. A letter from one of the missionaries, R. Fred Chambers, Assam, was read.

Present were: Messrs. and Mesdames A. M. Robinson, E. A. Bell, C. G. Nalle, J. C. James, J. W. Williams, F. W. Loose, J. E. Swank, E. L. Morris, Mac Robbins, E. Steffensen, L. C. Fairbank, C. W. Brakeman, J. J. Vernon, W. A. Atkinson and Mesdames W. H. Harrison, R. E. Coulter, H. S. Harlow, William Dietrick, J. R. Farwell, A. F. Hill, Jessie White, R. E. McBurney, C. W. Nash, H. E. Brakeman, Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Mrs. May Burum and Miss Mildred Marchant.

OUTDOOR CLUB HAS TURKEY DINNER AT METHODIST CHURCH

Mrs. W. W. Walton of Anaheim, one of the faithful members of the Outdoor club, energetic group of matrons, contributed a 25½-pound turkey to the cause.

So last night the women fete their husbands at a delicious turkey dinner party in the Methodist church. Each paid a small sum to be given to the church in appreciation of the use of the building for meetings.

After dinner the women beat the men in playing bounce ball. Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Herbert Rankin, A. F. Granas, R. R. Russick, Charles McIntyre, Clarence Vogle, Frank Welch, Harry Gardner and Sam Butler and Mesdames Walton, J. Howell, Ray Snyder and Edna Machander and Mrs. Machander's cousin.

A 46? Bring Curves Into Line With Marian Martin Frock

This coat-frock is just the efficient and feminine—sort every housewife revels in! A 46 will find its surplus lines slenderizing, will find them flattering, while every size will praise it for being so easy to don. Perfect for housework, and easy making, and it's varied enough in style to suit every taste. Perchance some will want the notch-collared version, edged with ric-rac braid. Some may prefer it without the braid, while still others will want the thumbnail sketch. Whether you choose a seersucker crinkle, gingham or percale, you'll want several just like it to change off with. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9648 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4½ yards 36 inch fabric and six yards edging.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

RISE OF "SPOILS" TRACED FOR WOMEN VOTERS

"To the victor belong the spoils" had its beginning in the presidency of Andrew Jackson, said Valt Raitt, a school teacher, Wednesday afternoon, in a talk before the League of Women Voters on the subject of "Principles of the Merit System." The meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. lobby.

"With the assassination of President Garfield by a disappointed office-seeker, the need for civil service became apparent," said Mr. McCoy, "and resulted in the passage of the first civil service act of 1883."

"Today, under the slogan of 'find the man for the job, not the job for the man,' the merit system seeks to prevent payment of political debt at the expense of government efficiency. It seeks to substitute fitness for favoritism, and to recruit qualified applicants for government service," said Mr. McCoy.

Dr. Ellen Stadtmuller, chief of the bureau of child hygiene of the state of California, was a surprise guest, speaking to the league on the federal social security act, maternal and child health activities were stressed.

SANTA ANANNES GO TO ALHAMBRA ENGAGEMENT PARTY
Mrs. W. D. Barker, 430 South Birch street, and her daughter-in-law Mrs. W. Ralph Barker, 1117 Bush street, were among guests recently attending a party in the Roy Barker home at Alhambra, when the engagement of Miss Madeline Barker, daughter of the home, to Edward Westphal of Los Angeles was announced.

Flame sweet peas in ivory pottery and candles to harmonize decked the tables, which were gay with valentine favors.

Mrs. Hubert Nall, Mrs. Nick Brock and Henry Guthrie, Harvey Warner and Jack Backus won prizes in bridge.

Others present were Messrs. and Mesdames Harvey Gardner, Raymond Prothro, George Osterman, George Bressler, Nick Brock, J. T. McKenzie, H. B. Rapp, Charles Cogan, C. Stup, Nat Noff, Donald Clayton and E. L. McKamy, Mrs. Backus, Dr. Nall, Miss Nina Summers, Harry Blake, and husbands of the hostess committee.

THREE CANDLES TELL GAY STORY AT PARTY FOR LITTLE GIRL

Three fat red candles on a valentine cake told the happy story at a party which Mr. and Mrs. Verl Underwood gave for their diminutive daughter, Jo Ann, on a recent afternoon in their home, 708 North Baker street.

The party featured balloons and lots of fun for the youngsters. Red and white streamers canopied a table at which they were served birthday cake and red gelatin topped with ice cream in heart shape, after the play hour.

Jo Ann received numerous pretty gifts.

Young guests present were Rosemary and Helen Louise Weir, Marjorie Dawn Underwood, Ruby Jane and Caroline Abernathy, Nancy Elfstrom, Jolene and La Donna Wakefield and Mabel Fleming.

"Grownups" present were Mesdames J. D. Kile, Charles Abernathy, Roland Weir, Raymond Underwood, L. C. Underwood, Fred Alf and Darrell Wakefield and Mrs. Raymond Underwood's two-month-old son, Don Louis.

Here's Your Big Chance Amateurs!

Amateurs of Orange county, attention!
If you can play the violin, dance, warble or imitate Ed Wynn, Santa Ana Ebells society offers you an audition and a chance to be in a big amateur extravaganza.

The day nursery committee of Ebells and the Los Angeles Assistance league are sponsoring the amateur hunt. After a series of auditions, a three-day show opening Feb. 27 in Ebells clubhouse will present the winning group. Later, a show in Los Angeles is planned.

Gill Patrick, 215 Ramona building, phone 1304, has charge of registering all entrants to the contest, and is urging early registrations.

Proceeds from the amateur show will go to the day nursery work.

Mary Stoddard Would You Like to Sip Hot Chocolate and Eat Wafers at a Bridge Party, Hubbie?

By MARY STODDARD
If your wife insisted that you be present at her bridge luncheon and drink chocolate and eat French pastry, even though it made you deathly ill, you'd think she was mighty unreasonable, wouldn't you?

But you insist that she attend parties and smoke a cigarette and drink liquor because the rest of the women present do so.

What is the difference, except that sipping the chocolate is the kinder of the two evils?

When a husband or a wife makes an unreasonable demand on the other, he or she is steering the matrimonial bark toward the divorce shoals. "When in Rome do as the Romans do" certainly does not apply to those who must sacrifice their health and ideals to "follow the crowd."

The wife in question has written me asking for our readers' kindly advice on this perplexing question.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Would you or your readers kindly advise me on one great and perplexing question that confronts me?

My husband is a wonderful man, kind to me and our two children. He is a good worker. But here is the problem: He requires two things of me—to smoke a cigarette and drink with him, but never get intoxicated. Once in a while we go to parties where liquor is served and I am expected to drink along with the other guests. These parties are not wild, drunken parties, but when liquor is served I must accept it and drink it. Both of them make me physically ill. My mother says it is a sin, and I've always been taught that it was.

Now which do you think God would judge me guiltier of: To refuse all and in time have a home broken up and the children left in the world to the mercy of strangers, or do as my husband asks me?

Outside of this one thing we have very little trouble.

What shall I do?
IN TROUBLE.

MRS. F. J. MCMILLAN VISITING HERE

Mrs. F. J. McMillan left Santa Ana Valley hospital this week with her second daughter to spend several weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Adamson, 1017 North Rose street.

The new baby has been named Miriam Jean. Her little 2-year-old sister is Kitty Jean. Mr. and Mrs. McMillan will go home to Long Beach at the conclusion of their visit here. Mrs. McMillan was Miriam Adamson before her marriage.

Dr. Tremain Hostess To Friends

That very popular Fullertonian, formerly of Santa Ana, Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain, gathered together a group of Santa Ana friends at a contract bridge luncheon yesterday in her home at Fullerton.

A bouquet of deep yellow-toned flowers centered the long luncheon table at which Dr. Tremain served a delicious menu to her guests.

Exquisitely-made linen handkerchiefs went as table prizes in the afternoon's play to Mesdames Irwin F. Landis, R. G. Tuthill and Clara T. Johnson.

Other guests included Mesdames Marguerite Borgmeyer, Sara Johnston Haddon, Roy Hall, Wade Warner, E. D. White, L. A. Chenoweth, H. B. Van Dien and Leonard G. Swales.

BIRTHDAY COURTESY AGAIN EXTENDED

Mrs. Laura Kessmann again extended a friendly courtesy to Mrs. Ernest Fulson of Gardien Grove when she feteed her at a birthday party Tuesday evening in the Kessmann home on Durant street.

Candle-light was used in the dinner hour. Sweet peas centered the table. Bridge was played for the rest of the evening.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sawyer, Miss Margaret Sawyer, Ernest Fulson, George Mills and Mrs. Lawrence Cameron.

MCKINLEY P. T. A. HAS POT-LUCK

Musical entertainment and pot-luck supper interested members of McKinley Parent-Teacher association at their meeting Tuesday night at the school.

Foy's Hill Billies played during the evening. Dorothy Bullock gave a violin number, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Webb, pianist.

Sweet peas, hyacinths and ferns were used to decorate the tables.

The Thinkers
Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

Do you think a social worker is more likely to enjoy his or her work than someone in purely commercial work?

Mrs. Herbert D. Straw: I think social work would be very interesting. Anything where you really are being of service to people is bound to bring happiness, I should think.

Mrs. L. C. Underwood: I'd choose a business job, I think. Social workers see too much misery, and so are more apt to be unhappy.

AMATEURS TO RAIN! YES, SAY GUESSERS GET CHANCE IN SHOW

Can you sing, dance, imitate or act? Do you listen to Major Bowes' amateur hour with the thought that you could do as well as most of them?

If so, here is your chance. On Feb. 10, 14 and 21 auditions for the Orange County Discoveries Revue, sponsored by the Ebell club of Santa Ana, through the Assistance League club, will be held at the Ebell clubhouse.

Three-Day Show

On Feb. 27, 28 and 29 auditions winners will be presented in a full-fledged amateur show at the clubhouse, according to Gil Patric, who will conduct the auditions. Mrs. James Irvine has been named general chairman for the revue.

Proceeds from the auditions and amateur show will go to the support of the Ebell club day nursery, and winners in the various divisions will participate in the Assistance League show in Los Angeles, competing with entrants from all near-by Southern California cities, it was stated. Those chosen from the California show will be offered screen, radio and movie bookings.

Questionnaires Ready

All amateurs who can sing, dance, imitate or act are asked to appear in person and fill out a talent questionnaire at the offices of the revue, 421 North Sycamore street.

By holding preliminary auditions and a full three days of show, it is hoped to give each entrant a full opportunity to display his talent, said Mr. Patric.

SCOUT COUNCIL ATTENDS CONCLAVE

Santa Ana had a full representation at the Southern District of Girl Scouts council meeting at the Women's Athletic club in Los Angeles yesterday, at which Mrs. Herbert Hoover, national president of Girl Scouts, was a featured speaker.

Those who went were Mesdames A. W. Rutan, Paul Bailey, Harry Edwards, Ray Snyder, E. T. McFadden and Herbert Rankin. Round table discussions followed the luncheon for commissioners, deputy commissioners and camp leaders.

There are more than 81 towns in Georgia with names ending in "ville."

BEN-HUR
SUPREME QUALITY
Spices

Highest grade known for flavor, strength and purity... MORE fragrant flavor... LESS woody waste!

FOR MORE DELICIOUS FLAVOR AND GREATER ECONOMY...

THREE Ben-Hur SPECIALIZED GRINDS

"America's most delicious coffee" is now sold in three Specialized Grinds—Ben-Hur "Drip," Ben-Hur "Percolator" and Ben-Hur "Silex." Each is scientifically perfect for the method to which it is individually adapted. Regrinding—which ruins the flavor of finer coffee—is no longer necessary. Buy the Ben-Hur Specialized grind suited to your method of making. Do not regrind! There should be no flavor variation in any individual method of making Ben-Hur when you discover the correct water and coffee measurement suited to your taste.

America's Original DRIP

Ben-Hur continues to feature its Original SPECIALIZED DRIP grind... specialized in blend and in instant flavor-release characteristic; extra-delicious in flavor, and the most helpful of all coffee beverages when made by the modern drip method.

Specialized PERCOLATOR

For the Percolator method, coarse granules give the best flavor results. Specialized in blend and grind, Ben-Hur Percolator Coffee has proven scientifically correct after long experimentation.

Specialized SILEX

The Silex method gains in popularity. Exact fineness of Silex coffee and the instant flavor-release characteristic of Ben-Hur are vital. Ben-Hur Silex is the correct grind in proportions of very fine and slightly coarser particles.

Five Star Weekly Is Out Again Tomorrow; Look What You'll Find In It!

Five Star Weekly is out again tomorrow. This week's edition of the popular magazine supplement distributed exclusively through The Journal in Santa Ana contains a brilliant array of reading matter for all the family. A preview shows:

Pioneer Courage—here Brewster Adams, Reno's famous "sky pilot," gives readers of the weekly another amazing insight into the many adventures of his career. The Rev. Mr. Adams says pioneer courage is needed to conquer the frontiers still extant.

Five Star Jury—Has American Justice broken down? A "jury" of 12 outstanding Pacific coast judges here hand down a decision on justice that every thinking citizen should read. What Is a Bloop?—If you don't know, you should. Donna Risher has assembled an amazing collection of classic bloopers, fresh from Hollywood, from whence the word comes. And there are Gail Gardner and Jane with their witty, instructive movie columns. "Cattle Kate's" Exit—There

Rain or no rain, you can't shake some people's faith.

"Dear Prophet," writes Mrs. King Rutledge, of Stanton. "Be not deceived by the present precipitation. The ocean will get a good dousing but the two-inch rain will not start until Feb. 16 at 2 a. m. Thanking you for my umbrella, I remain, etc."

And that isn't all. Encouraged by the little rainfall of the other day, two more entrants joined the two-inch derby today. N. G. Metz, 1216 North Van Ness, said simply: "Rain big, 3:20 a. m., Feb. 22." Thomas Bissett, 1721 Valencia street, said Feb. 3 at 2 a. m.

In the meantime, except for a .09 of an inch of rain, Santa Ana and Orange county has endured a drought of 33 continuous days, and as Secretary R. D. Flaherty of the farm bureau says:

"The drought really lasts clear back into last spring. It hasn't rained an honest-to-goodness rain for nine months."

But even Mr. Flaherty believes it will some time. The thing to do is guess the day and the hour, send your prognostication to The Journal, and wait for your new umbrella. Get in the swim before it's too late.

DRUNK DRIVERS BOOKED AT JAIL

Two men convicted of drunk driving were booked yesterday at the county jail. George Running, 39, of Costa Mesa, commenced a 30-day jail sentence in lieu of a $100 fine. He was found guilty in the Anaheim justice court.

David D. McCarguade, 38, Fullerton, was booked at the jail at 1:15 p. m., but was released after paying a $50 fine. He was found guilty in the Anaheim justice court.

One Minute Drama—John Richard Finch packs 60 minutes of thrills into his "sixty seconds of life," and after it comes the February forecast, an astrological forecast for Col. Charles Lindbergh.

"Go West, Young Lady"—A pretty New York magazine editor says the West is the nation's happy hunting ground for damsels seeking husbands. What do you think?

Tree-Top Homes—What about life in a tree-top house down a sunny Tahiti? Dick West, Five Star Weekly staff writer, describes them for you. Twigs and leaves, or cushions and curtains? Fashion Tips—Mischa, famous designer, has some new creations to delight the women. Here's a chance to get the edge on what will be most appropriate for the coming season.

ROSE MARIE IS OPENING TODAY

One of the greatest films of all times, according to critics who previewed the film, is "Rose Marie," which opens today at the West Coast theater with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy again teamed as sweethearts.

In theme, "Rose Marie" is human interest love drama in which the element of beautiful music, finely sung, is an integral factor. Hauntingly beautiful music, gorgeous scenery and an excellent cast and direction make this an exceptional photoplay, critics have said.

The film tells the romantic story of an opera diva and a Royal Canadian mounted policeman. Rushing to the north woods to aid her brother who is sought by the mounted police, Miss MacDonald is robbed and deserted by her guide. There she meets and falls in love with the mountie whose duty it is to capture her brother. The scene then shifts to the opera, where the diva finds only unhappiness. She collapses and is forced to return north for her health. There again she meets the man who had claimed her heart.

The cast includes Reginald Owen, Allan Jones, James Stewart, Alan Mowbray, Gilda Gray, George Regas, Robert Greig, Una O'Connor, Lucien Littlefield, David Nivens and Herman Bing.

Rolling Sidewalk Designed to Take Place of Subways

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—The "Biway" sidewalk, a substitute for subways, which will carry its passengers a mile in a little more than four minutes, was described in its latest form to the American women was seated tentatively after three replacements resulting from challenges.

Institute of Electrical Engineers yesterday.

The biway is a double sidewalk, one beside the other, one which starts and stops, while its companion never stops, but loads from its intermittent companion. Norman W. Storer, of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company of East Pittsburgh said biways will cost less to construct and install than subways and use less power.

Fuel in the form of coal, natural gas and wood is plentiful in Oklahoma, with many communities having a supply of all three.

DEBRIS OF BURNED CITY HALL SMOKES FOR FOUR HOURS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 31.

(AP)—Four years ago the Montgomery city hall burned to the ground. The fire department rolled up its hose and went home and, in time, people forgot about it except when they looked at the heap of debris.

Yesterday a steam shovel bit into the remains and uncovered timbers still hot and smoldering.

TO END DROUGHT

To the Editor: We are approaching the end of our rainy season. If no beneficial amount of rain falls soon this section of the country will be faced with the severest drought it has faced for over 50 years.

The situation will be infinitely graver now than then, because millions more people live here now, and our water resources are strained to the breaking point already.

It is time the people prayed to God, and publicly, as well as privately, acknowledge His rulership over their lives.

Only He, in mercy and love can save us from a calamitous drought that will cause great human suffering and property loss.

So let us all pull together in praying for rain and in upholding those organizations that are trying to encourage the people (at large) to do so.

NEW CRIME THEORY

To the Editor: With automobile accidents increasing at an alarming rate, many thousands of persons of all ages are receiving all manner of head injuries from concussion of the brain to skull fractures. While the majority of these make physical recovery, is there not a possibility that a certain percentage may have acquired some degree of mental unbalance due to shock or the head injury itself?

Is it not possible that this may bear some relation to the increasing acts of violence, particularly when we note that crime is becoming common among our so-called better class, whose training and environment we have always considered a check on lawlessness?

How many of our criminals have been victims of accidents in which they received more or less serious head injuries? If our medical and mental experts in collaboration with our criminologists would make a study of this matter, I believe that some interesting facts might be revealed.

E. A. LINDAHL.

TRAFFIC TOLL

To the Editor: An article appearing in The Journal recently quoting our Superior Court Judge Allen's idea and proposed legislation with reference to our alarmingly increased traffic toll is a very good one I think, and I sincerely hope something constructive besides newspaper publicity will come of it, although that is very necessary to arouse public sentiment in favor of it.

His idea, as I recollect it, was to revoke first and minor traffic violator's licenses for a suitable period without a jail sentence so that the violator would not be taken away from his family's support in a first and minor infraction, but that in subsequent and continued violations his car should be confiscated and disposed of together with a stiff fine and jail sentence combined for such offenses as may be justified in the court's opinion.

As everyone knows our traffic problem is fast becoming an American tragedy these days when we kill over 36,000 people annually besides the hundreds of thousands who are maimed for life and the enormous property damage to innocent sufferers as well, which affect us all in more ways than one, such as insurance rates for instance, for those who have to carry protection for someone else's recklessness on our public highways. Judge Allen is to be commended for his clear-cut suggestions, and he should know whereof he speaks, as he is constantly confronted with such litigation so that it should carry more than ordinary weight with the law-abiding citizens and public at large. I trust that his idea will be advocated by others as well who will see to it that such legislation is enacted with real teeth in it and then enforced. The motor car manufacturers now days are not without their share of the blame too. They are all building their cars now in order to keep up or beat their competitors to do 70, 80 and 90 miles an hour when our maximum speed laws are not to exceed 45 miles. There's a temptation for the speedhound to contend with and you know the results of that. It will no doubt eventually result in a law putting governors on the motor to a limit of say about 50 miles. That would be some protection from the speeder but not much help from the reckless driver who will probably always be with us until eliminated by confiscation of his car, jail sentence and fine as suggested by Judge Allen.

The writer has driven cars in all kinds of traffic conditions for nearly 25 years and has never yet had a citation for traffic violations in all that time, so you see it can be done if one really tries to.

SENTENCE F.D.R. THREATENER

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—Austin Phelps Palmer, retired electrical engineer of Park avenue, today was sentenced to 90 days in the federal detention house for sending threatening letters to President Roosevelt. The maximum penalties which Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson could have imposed were five years imprisonment and a $1000 fine.

The court imposed the sentence after a plea by Palmer's attorney that the 51-year-old man be extended "extreme leniency."

Palmer wrote letters to the President in which he blamed the government for his financial reverses and threatened to strangle President Roosevelt with his own hands.

The receiver of such a letter can never know whether the writer is serious or not," said Judge Patterson in passing sentence.

LONG'S FRIENDS PLAN TRIBUTE

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31. (AP)—Political heirs of the slain Senator Huey P. Long are planning a $200,000 tribute to his memory on the grounds of the state's skyscraper capitol at Baton Rouge.

It has been announced that they tentatively have decided on a broken, 30-foot marble shaft, rising from Long's tomb as the dominating figure in the group. Symbolizing life broken by death, the shaft would be in the center of a triangle created by three sunken lakes. One side of the columns would bear a tablet reciting Long's accomplishments during the eight years of his political domination of the state.

Another tablet would detail plans which his slaying cut short. Natural gas piped into the stone would provide an "eternal light" atop the shaft.

Fire loss in 1935 for eBaumont, Tex., was placed at $145 per capita, one of the lowest averages in the country.

POLITICS FAIL TO AFFECT STOCKS

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—Support arrived for leading stocks in today's market and recoveries of fractions to around 2 points were recorded in rather active dealings.

While the Washington scene was still confusing, buying sentiment was revived when various analysts concluded that yesterday's reaction was in the nature of a "healthy correction" due to the too rapid price advance.

Many issues went into new high ground for the past year or longer. Among conspicuous gainers were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Pipe, Inland Steel, U. S. Steel, American Can, Continental Can, Collins and Aikman, Warner Bros., North American, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Radio Corporation, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Oil, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Delaware and Hudson. Exceptions included American Telephone and Douglas Aircraft which fell back moderately under profit taking.

Grain Market

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. (AP)—Overturning of wheat late today reached $1.00 for May contracts.

Threats of a coalition between farm and bonus bloc in Congress, and currency inflation exerted a bullish influence. Besides, Winnipeg and Liverpool markets developed relative firmness.

Butter and Eggs

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31. (AP)—Produce exchange receipts: Butter, 3,600 lbs.; cheese, 28,600 lbs.; eggs, 50 cases.

Butter in bulk, 34c; Eggs, candled large, 22c; do medium, 21c; do small, 18 1/2c.

That Anaheim-Tustin conflict, shedding much light on the County Prep league race, should be filled with blazing basketball at Anaheim tonight. Big Bill Cole, coach of Tustin's champions, suggested the game be transferred to Tustin, where nearly twice as many fans can be accommodated. But Anaheim officials said emphatically, "Nothing doing!"

FIRM HELPS IN SAFETY WORK

Faced with the appalling totals of 36,000 killed, more than 100,000 permanently injured, and well over a million persons temporarily disabled in automobile accidents during 1935, every community in the land has joined in a mass attack upon careless driving. Law enforcement bodies have redoubled their efforts, civic minded organizations and individuals are lending their support, and behind them all bringing daily messages of accident horrors to the public, the newspapers of the West are co-operating.

The Western Auto Supply Company believes that considerable force can be added to the nationwide safety drive if every person is impressed with the tragedy, not alone of the accident, but its influence upon the families of both the motorist and the victim. In this manner it is hoped to drive into the consciousness of every driver and every pedestrian the fact that many more persons are irreparably injured in every accident than those who are killed or crippled. To this end, the Western Auto Supply Company will broadcast a series of dramatizations of accidents and their resulting tragic effect upon the families of the persons involved—both driver and victim.

The program will be called "Death Rides The Highways." It will be released over stations KPO, KFI, KOMO, KHQ, KTAZ, KDXL, KOA and WFSB every Saturday evening between the hours of 7:30

tion for Baseball." They do it almost every year at this time, we're told. The disarming sport has not been successful for the junior collegians since 1932. Last year the situation was pitiful; they disbanded at mid-season. . . . Walter Bell, director of Long Beach Poly athletics, recently remarked to a Journal scribe: "I'll be glad when Reece Greene gets some real material at Santa Ana. TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 31. (AP)—Attorney General David T. Wilentz, commenting on Gov. Harold G. Hoffman's order that state police reopen the investigation of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder case, said today the governor's statements "contain no fragment of new evidence. The case stands as is."

Wilentz and Col. H. N. Schwarzkopf were the heads of the prosecuting and investigating staffs that convicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, jr.

A reprieve by Governor Hoffman two weeks ago on the eve of his execution gave Hauptmann a temporary lease on life.

To escape from evil we must be made, as far as possible, like God; and this resemblance consists in becoming just, and holy, and wise.

WHAT KIND OF CAMPAIGN?

EAR-SPLITTING epithets blister newspaper pages and sizzle through the ether as political orators warm up for what has been heralded as the "bitterest campaign in American history."

Al Smith labels President Roosevelt and the Brain Trusters as "Communists and Socialists." Senator Robinson retorts that Smith is a "traitor to the party." Governor Landon assails the administration as the "thief of the Democratic cloak . . . to hide its own Socialistic skeleton." Democratic chieftains in verbal broadsides exorcise the Grand Old Party as a refuge for "malefactors of great wealth."

And so the music goes round and a-round. It's very entertaining. And you can't help but feel that in this land of free speech it's sometimes a healthy thing to listen to the picturesque language and vivid views of battling political leaders.

Oratorical fireworks do a lot to stir public interest in the tremendously important economic and social questions that face the country. Vigorous campaigning by Republicans, Democrats, Townsdenites, and others does much to shake the apathy of the average voter.

We like the idea of a strong, vigorous campaign. But frankly we don't see why it has to be the "bitterest" in history.

The American people do not want or need a campaign of bitterness. Harm only is bound to result if the vital issues of good government are obscured by a torrent of mud-slinging, denunciation, terroristic methods, and intimidation.

Instead of bitterness, let us have a campaign of fair and honest American discussion—with decency and sincerity as the keynote.

The Journal's columns are going to be wide open for that purpose to people of all shades of opinion, and we hope that the various local political organizations—be they Republicans, Democrats, or whatnot—avail themselves of the opportunity to use the space honestly and fairly.

Let us drop bitterness and abuse as political weapons. Let us enter the electoral arena armed only with honesty of purpose, clarity of thought, and a common desire for a greater, happier nation.

RED CROSS BOMBINGS

THE STORY of the bombing of Red Cross hospitals in Ethiopia has caused a great deal of moral indignation throughout the world. But has the whole story been told?

America should be slow in passing judgment. It must be remembered that both sides, Italians and Ethiopians alike, have their propaganda mills grinding out grist for the world's consumption.

The last war taught the lesson that well-managed propaganda is as valuable to a warring nation as an army. The slightest incident, in the hands of the clever propagandist, can be forged into one link of a chain which will surely but slowly drag a neutral nation into the arena of war.

The world recognizes the worth of the Red Cross. The Italians do likewise. A strong Red Cross unit behind the Ethiopian lines would be very much of a safeguard to Italian prisoners, because the Red Cross serves all wounded alike.

The report that the Italians deliberately bombed a Red Cross station, intentionally and without reason, is hard to believe, because the Italian command realizes that nothing would more quickly turn the world against the Italian cause.

If the present war spreads over Europe, as it well may, each side will eagerly seek to win over the United States, with its wealth and man power.

It is our duty to be utterly impartial, if we are to remain neutral. Before we pass judgment on such incidents as the Red Cross bombings, and other incidents that are bound to occur, let's have all the facts, from both sides.

PERFECTION IN AUTOMOBILES

ALL OF the 1936 model automobiles, as far as we have been able to see, are pretty satisfactory machines, good values for the money, and of sorts to give pride and satisfaction to the purchaser.

Yet, we read now that they're full of flaws and imperfections, all of them. And the men who make these mechanical remarks—believe it or not—important figures in the automobile manufacturing industry.

At the 31st annual convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers, recently held in Detroit, many criticisms were aired. For example, listen to this excerpt from a paper by E. J. Johnson, designer and stylist for one of the big companies. He told the meeting:

"The deficiencies of today's cars are all due, more or less, to a lack of a sound basis of design. Too much space is wasted upon non-functional elements; ventilation is still far from satisfactory; interiors are impractical—too cramped due to waste of available room. Visibility is sadly lacking due to the driver being located back of the center of the car; car windows are poorly arranged—lights reflecting in them at night; bodies are poorly insulated against temperature and sound; . . . door handles and exposed door hinges set up wind noise at high speeds."

A principal advantage of either of the designs under discussion, different speakers said, was the elimination of the propeller shaft under the body, permitting floors to be swung lower and the elimination of the running boards.

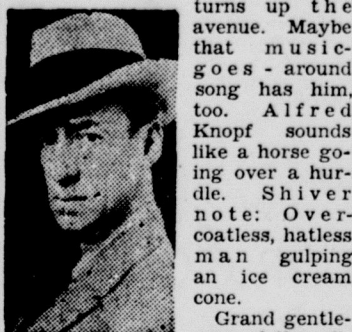

"With no running boards to consider we can make . . . body width the same as car width, with fenders logically and simply a part of the body," Mr. Johnson said. "This gives us luxuriously ample interior width—enough to seat four people abreast if need be."

So, perhaps we all have wider, finer, better cars to look forward to as the years pass. In the meantime, most Americans will get full enjoyment from the resplendent, streamlined, full-gadged current models, lacking in full perfection though they be.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: H. I. Phillips starts in one skyscraper door, rushes to another, then turns up the avenue. Maybe that music goes around song has him, too. Alfred Knopf sounds like a horse going over a hurdle. Shiver note: Overcoatless, hatless man gulping an ice cream cone.

O. O. McIntyre Grand gentleman of the editorial rooms: Charles M. Lincoln. Add rosebud mouths: Phyllis Haver Seeman's. No modern restaurant name attains that certain something like old Lemonico's. How many remember Phoebe Howard's skintight trousers? Never heard of an actor with the first name Abner.

Top in impersonations: Rudy Vallee's of Fred Allen and Fred Allen's of Major Bowes. Beautifully written book: "The Wooden Pillow." Tommy Manville almost white haired. Baird Leonard has a grand writing name. How marvelously Sophie Tucker holds her place. Mr. Pickwick's Fat Boy—Postmaster Farley.

Look alike: Gladys Swarthout and Gloria Swanson. Not much left to the Palace corner sidewalk crowd. Few gals get away with snubbing fashions like Katharine Hepburn. Unless it's Michael Strange. Writing Mark's: Twain, Sullivan, Kelly and Hellinger.

For the Look the Same 15 Years Ago club: Messmore Kendall. No one can appear so glowy after a barbering as George M. Cohan. Rather expect Gladys Glad to be laughing and cutting up. This would happen to me. Smack in front of the Union club I pull one of those down on one knee falls. Mammy!

The latest insanity in collecting—I have seen two of the roundups is gathering cigarette and cigar ends of famous people. Aw! The ends are mounted on cards and labeled with the celebrity names and dates of the pick-ups. In one of the collections were cigarette ends, reportedly flung away by Osgood Perkins, Ina Claire, Richard Barthelmess and Nazimova. And a cigar end by Wallace Beery.

I have been interested in the progress of a romance between a gum-chewing, peroxide and lark waitress in a restaurant on Lexington avenue and the clerk fellow in the cigar shop adjoining. On her part there is none of the swooning languor of the lovelorn but a flinty consciousness of brittle realities. This evening I asked for a report on the match. She grinned, flipped her head and said: "I've married the mugg. Ask him when you go by and watch the boob blush." I did and he did. Yet underneath her banter one has a feeling she would go a long way for what she calls her "wet smack."

Hype Igoe is likely the dean of active sports writers in Manhattan and high among top notches. He draws as robustly as he writes. Through the years his boxing predictions have been amazingly accurate. Although his articles show no letup in enthusiasm, life has never been quite the same since the passing of Tad. They were reared south of the slot in San Francisco, began their careers and trekked East together. Tad laughed himself out of a thousand trains to Great Neck. Igoe sang to the thrum of his cigar box rattle in the old Batling Nelson grill of Jack's.

P. G. Wodehouse has become No. 1 author of humorous novels for American audiences. Chiefly because crack native humorists confine themselves to short stories, articles and skits. Wodehouse's deserved fame rests largely on his characterization of his gentlemanly, the noble and stoic Jeeves. Yet the most hilarious English butler ever turned out was Harry Lane Wilson's "Ruggles of Red Gap," antedating Wodehouse a full decade. But Wilson grew wealthy and sought the luxurious dalliance of Carmel, Cal. Writing irked him—as who doesn't? Just when the world needs his pen, he has retired. The toll, too, among writers of abbreviated fiction has been terrific—Ring Lardner, Kin Hubbard, H. C. Witwer and many others.

I don't know how it affects the base but to come upon one's name unexpectedly in a book of fiction gives me the sensation of an electric shock. Last night in a tense chapter of Thomas Rouke's "Haven for the Giant" read: "Len left and she dozed off in the middle of a recipe for bouillabaisse by O. O. McIntyre . . . and I twirling like a watch spring, frightening the dog into bark. One thing about my writing, I may not thrill, inspire laughter or tears but, Boy! can I doze 'em off!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Next Monday may again be a fateful day for the New Deal. On that day the supreme court, reconvening after a two weeks' recess, is expected to hand down its decision on the President's pet project—the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Twice, on Jan. 13 and 20, the court failed to deliver its momentous verdict. The court never explains the reasons for its delay, and no hint came forth in this case. But in court circles there is a whispering report that the TVA case brought to fever pitch the strained relations among the nine justices.

It was reported, among other things, that the liberal minority—Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cordo—strenuously maintained that the action brought by the power interests was faulty, did not squarely raise the question of TVA constitutionality, and should be thrown out of the court.

It was also reported that Hughes, fearing criticism might be leveled against the court for too precipitate action, prevailed on his colleagues to hold up the TVA decision for a few weeks.

Whatever are the facts, the situation has given rise to uneasiness on both sides of the TVA controversy.

Now neither the government nor the power companies are confident of victory. Both are uncertain whether the delay is a favorable or unfavorable omen.

KNOWLEDGE Morgenthau's aides in the treasury gave a test the other day to applicants for clerical jobs. When the test was over, one of the applicants—who said he was a Princeton graduate—complained that the test was unfair.

"Why should I have to know who Cordell Hull is? They asked me if Hull was secretary of war, secretary of state, secretary of agriculture or secretary of the navy."

"I knew it was either war or state—but I didn't know which."

ANGLO-U. S. ALLIANCE? How firmly the idea of an Anglo-American alliance is entrenched in the minds of some U. S. army officers is told by congressmen who visited the Philippines this winter.

Several senators were the guests of Brig. Gen. Frank L. Parker, commander of Fort Stotsenburg, P. I., and former chief of the bureau of insular affairs. After lunch he summoned them to the library, where he unfurled a map and proceeded to lecture them on U. S. war plans in the Pacific.

"The first line of American defense," he said, "is a line drawn from the Aleutian Islands through Hawaii to the Panama Canal."

"Then over here on the other side of the Pacific are the Philippines. They are our first outpost of defense; that is why we should not abandon them."

Immediately interrupted Senator Clark of Missouri, who served on the general staff in France and was graduated by the army's general staff school.

"But, General," he said, "the first rule of war when the enemy attacks is to withdraw your outposts to the first line of defense. This is what we're doing in giving the Philippines their independence—withdrawal of our outposts."

BARGAINS IN BUGGIES

This is the time to buy buggies. We have put our entire line of top buggies, road wagons, bike wagons, spring wagons and surries on sale at prices that will make people want them. Wm. F. Lutz Co.

Santa Ana is going to have a chapter house of the American Woman's league. It is to cost $5,000. Mrs. W. B. Tedford is president, Mrs. J. A. Cranston vice president and Mrs. A. J. Lawton secretary of the Santa Ana chapter.

The first gun of the campaign for the election of a board of trustees for the city of Santa Ana to succeed the present administration was fired last night at the city water works, where a caucus meeting was held by the voters of the fourth ward to determine upon their representative on the city council. The selection of a candidate for the board of education also was considered.

The officers of Santa Ana lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., Orange lodge No. 73, R. & A. M., and Santa Ana Council, No. 14, R. & S. M., will be installed on Friday evening, Feb. 3. Supper will be served at 7 p. m. By order of A. N. Zeman, W. M.; F. M. Bruner, H. P., and L. N. Harvey, T. I. M.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

When Sky Is Filled With Commerce, Beware Below!

A THREE-POUND chunk of lead dropped from an airplane, soaring at 10,000 feet above a Southern city. The loosened missile rushes in a parabolic curve to the earth, in deadly descent. Strikes bottom with velocity of a bullet, some 800 feet a second. And, miracle of marksmanship in this day, it hits a horse, drilling a tunnel through the animal, burying itself in the ground.

Such hovering slugs of death will be commonplace news when the heavens are filled with commerce. No need of war to make the heavens rain their shower of leaden rain. Human carelessness will see to that. Under the earth's relentless pull every little piece of loosened food or metal will be a potential bomb. Hammers, wrenches, nut bolts, shoes, teeth, anything—may strike death and destruction to the crawling sons of men. With a descent of 16 feet the first second and 32 feet in addition every following second, the most innocent object may pack a tremendous wallop when freely falling from the clouds.

All of which stresses again the rapidly increasing integration of modern life. Less and less does a person live unto himself. More and more do his actions affect those jostling around him. Carelessness becomes more reprehensible as these impacts continue. Useless noise is less excusable. Social decay is more menacing.

The People

Their publication does not necessarily imply the opinions they express are shared by The Journal. Letters must be signed, although signatures will be omitted upon request.

DRY WELLS AHEAD

To the Editor: May a Nebraska man say something about Orange county's water problem?

This is my fifth trip out here and I well remember my first—32 years ago when there were several rivers of running water here and which are now being cultivated. However, they still call them rivers but the water is from 50 to 100 feet below the surface except where there is a flood from the mountains.

Orange county no doubt raises the most valuable crops of any county in the United States. The normal rainfall is about one-half of ours in Nebraska. There are 3000 irrigation wells in this county. I have talked with some orange growers recently who are lifting water 200 feet and say the water goes below sea level and not fit for anything on account of salt water coming in.

The rainfall averages about the same for the past 50 years or more but our consumption of water has increased many thousands of times and will continue to do so . . . so it is up to the present generation to conserve all streams with dams and reservoirs to hold all the water now going to waste and be under full control of the federal government where it is interstate water.

The domestic water supply here is no small affair in this part of California. The Metropolitan Water District, with Boulder dam, is the only salvation of the domestic water supply, as I said when here 10 years ago.

Orange county, like Nebraska, faces a bad situation. The wells in both places will go dry some day unless a way is found to augment the present water supply.

"DURNED FOREIGNER"

To the Editor: "Thimble drama" is a gaunt, shabby Mexican youth dozes peacefully on the park bench. Enters a policeman. He contemplates the recumbent figure a moment and then raps him sharply on the foot.

"Aw right, senior, on your way. This ain't no hotel."

Senior shakes his head. "Durned foreigner," mumbles the officer, "why don't he go back to his own country where he belongs?"

A scholarly looking old gentleman nearby explains to us later that the "durned foreigner" is a direct descendant of an old Spanish don whose vast rancho once covered an entire valley near here. It was granted to him by the king of Spain, long before the advent of the gringo.

"Durned foreigner."

Remarkable Remarks

If you must come to Hollywood, be different. Stand out from the crowd, if you have to put on stilts. Janet Gaynor, advising would-be movie stars.

The President implies that he moved to March 4, 1933, "the world without form and void."—Herbert Hoover.

It is only right that a man's most prized prerogative, that of proposing, should be safeguarded. In the case of the Police Chief Lee Smith, Burlington, Ont., offering protection to bachelors.

Ray Lambert wanted to take me to the Santa Anita races about the time the first heat was to be run, and he thought we could get there just as they were finishing the last race. I asked him if we should take our lunch, and then he decided he would leave me home. He had mob Mize take my place.

Some fellow said he got some information a few days ago about revolving funds payable at the close of business some month several years hence, and now he don't know whether he will be here to get it when its due. However, it's potential wealth, but to me it's so far removed it doesn't appear like it is so very potent.

Met Terry Stephenson carrying county money yesterday and I asked him if he wanted me to help him and he said no. There was rather a disturbing inference in that refusal.

One of the inmates of the Joliet penitentiary during a leisure moment, puts a knife in Richard Loe's heart. He was in for only a few years. Now he stands a good chance of being paroled.

For a few weeks classes from the public schools have been visiting The Journal office for inspection and practical viewpoint purposes. There is such an eager interest on the part of the visiting lads and lassies that their visit is welcome. There is something fascinating about a newspaper office, its rush and glamour and world intimacy. The pupils seem to sense that every move has a meaning that fits into the grand climax when the completed newspaper offers you the completed product. I've been around 'em so long that it's like water on a duck's back, but I still like the water—and speaking about water, it's just now a very important subject, and most people are discussing it, pro and con.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKRIBBIN

Met pedestrian who wants to know why an autoist parked at the end of a street, well back his car onto a main thoroughfare, and endanger the people who are crossing, and the other automobile operators on the side of the street into which he backed his car. Maybe the boys over to the highway patrol will give you their opinion, and it wouldn't be at all like mine. Better see some of Hank Meehan's boys. My opinion might be too vociferous.

As an aid to reducing highway accidents would the suggestion that more people walk do any good? It may not be a scientific contribution, but it sounds like a healthy suggestion.

Friend hands me a card from the Paramount studios asking for a criticism of "Klondike Annie," the Mae West picture. As if I could tell Mae West anything about ogee curves, and the attractiveness of such a beautiful sinuosity. So, Mr. Paramount, may I refer you to "Abou Ben Adem," which you can apply to "Klondike Annie,"—it led all the rest.

Among my clientele is a business man who insists that he is making noticeable progress in removing from his framework surplus flesh. Every time he meets me he insists on the success of his deflation. That bird does not know that he is under my observation frequently, and that he never passes a roast beef without sawing a knife through a nice juicy slice. And if you chance to be his lunch partner what you leave he takes. His physical diminution is as noticeable as the fat man in a side show.

If this column were open for political comment it would say that it won't be long now before the Republican party will "view with alarm," and the Democrats "point with pride." This is a coup on both parties which will mean some severe months here in national convention to adopt a set of resolutions.

The nonchalant attitude of a citizen turning in his bank statement provoked an inquiry on the part of the bank manager as to how he could read so comfortably under such circumstances. "Well, you can get so far in debt," was his reply, "that the other fellow does the worrying for you." But from my point of view the complaining young lady who was taking the statement.

President Milan Miller of the Breakfast club appointed Rodney Bacon a committee of one to see that we get a substantial rain before the next meeting. At the same time he dismissed a committee—consisting of one, and I know him—because he failed to deliver a satisfactory amount of moisture. Oh, well, worry worry. I'm like the movies—I'm going to move my grove to Florida unless the state administration gets rain.

Ray Lambert wanted to take me to the Santa Anita races about the time the first heat was to be run, and he thought we could get there just as they were finishing the last race. I asked him if we should take our lunch, and then he decided he would leave me home. He had mob Mize take my place.
